ILLINOIS VOTING IS WATCHED

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14. —There are signs that the coming campaign is going to have some of the frills of a real war. Both sides are already breaking out with marked symptoms of spy fever.

The National Labor Relations Board accuses industry of hiring 40,000 to 135,000 detectives, supplied by some 200 detective agencies. It is claimed that they are employed to terrorize workers in an attempt to keep them from organizing for collective bargaining.

The Resettlement Administration says it has discovered that Republican National Committee stool pigeons are representing themselves to be newspaper men in order to find out what goes on in that special bureau of the New Deal clinic.

When volunteers offer their services, without presenting credentials from an authoritative source, there is a tendency to ask, "How do we know they are not spies from the enemy camp?"

If spy hunting is on before the conventions meet, by election day we may count on white, red and other colored "papers", each side accusing the other of simply appalling atrocities.

ALICE LONGWORTH.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

The sinking of the steamer S. S. Titanic in the Atlantic after striking an iceberg, one of the worst disasters of modern times, occurred 24 years ago tomorrow. The date of the tragedy which shocked the world—April 15, 1912.

The fishermen are ready — their big day of days, the season's opener, comes Wednesday. One local clergyman who seldom misses a first-day trip told Pa Newc he fears he'll miss it tomorrow, for he has a cold. He's hoping that it cures up enough to permit him to get into his outdoor togs for a short while at least. The streams will likely be lined with Izaak Walton followers during the day.

State highway department workers are doing a good piece of work in repairing the surfacing of North Jefferson street between the Public Square and Grant street. The winter weather was hard on this top surface and many holes had appeared.

The annual lawn roller brigade is now well started on the spring program. Many lawns are being rolled and seeded down around the city.

The dog catcher since his reemployment on the job has been devoting some attention to streets on the outskirts of the city, Pa Newc is informed. Considerable complaint about dogs running at large was received at the mayor's office from these sections.

Playing safe: A "stop" sign is needed on the northwest corner of the dangerous Sheridan avenue-Albert street intersection, a resident suggests. The post is there but no sign. He also thinks "slow" signs along Sheridan avenue would reduce the danger.

While the big league baseball seasons get under way today, weather conditions are not very promising for launching the ball season on New Castle diamonds for some time.

Cab Drivers Say No Strangers In Vicinity Of Mrs. Titterton's Home

MURDERER MAY LIVE IN DISTRICT

Drivers Show Knowledge Of Identity Of All Residents Of Beeckman Place

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 14—The murderer of Nancy Evans Titterton either lived in the same block with her on smart Beekman Place, or visited there so frequently he was not regarded as a stranger.

This is the firm belief of three veteran cab drivers who today threw a new and sinister side-light on the Good Friday murder in an exclusive interview with International News Service.

"This thing has got us, mister," said Julius Leboss, veteran driver who has operated his cab out of Beekman Place for several years.

Saw No Strangers

"Me and Freddie Jaep here and Henry Sirakobsy was right here all Friday morning and until 1:30 or two in the afternoon Friday and we never seen any strangers come in or out of the building. You can see the door is only 50 feet from here.

"We can't make it out at all. I

Hunt Missing Moravia Man

Harry Allen, 65, Is Sought —Not Seen Since Monday Afternoon

NO REASON KNOWN FOR DISAPPEARANCE

State police and citizens of Wampum last night and today sought Harry Allen, 65, Pennsylvania railroad section foreman, of Moravia, who has been missing since 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. According to relatives they know of no reason for his disappearance.

According to reports from his home, Mr. Allen ate luncheon about 1 p. m. and went to his duties on the P. R. R. As the crew had their day off yesterday he was to perform his section duties alone.

Reports state that Mr. Allen was seen about 2 p. m. enroute to his work. However, that was the last seen of him and when he did not return last night an alarm was spread.

State police were summoned and railroad authorities also informed. A search was instituted but he was not found and early this morning the search was resumed.

At 1:30 p. m. today his relatives said they could ascribe no reason why he should be missing voluntarily. He had no known enemies and had been in good health.

Allen is six feet two inches tall and weighs 175 pounds, has a ruddy complexion, blue eyes, wears spectacles and his nose was fractured at one time. He wore an Odd Fellows ring and was attired in working clothes. He wore overalls over black trousers, the pockets being trimmed with leather. He also wore a blue serge coat, black topcoat and a brown hat. Allen also wore black shoes with heavy soles.

Seven Accused Of Auto Thefts

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., April 14.—Charged with stealing automobiles in New Castle, Pa., and in Richmond, Decatur and Ft. Wayne, Ind., and transporting them to Mt. Vernon, O., five men and two women today were freed on bond pending a preliminary hearing before a U. S. commission here on April 23.

Joseph Thornton, Department of Justice agent, arrested the seven, all Mt. Vernon residents. They were Charles Sullinger and his wife, Harry Blue, Sam Bell, Pauline Allen, George Weirick and C. C. Leiter. Each pleaded not guilty.

Big Leagues Open 1936 Season Today

(International News Service)

That annual pageant of sport, color and madness—the opening of the major league baseball season—gets an airing today in eight cities, Washington, New York, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Boston and Cleveland.

At least 200,000 fans and no small number of notables will witness and have a hand in the ceremonies, while millions more will "listen-in" on the radio or read accounts of the openers in the newspapers.

Fair and moderate temperatures have been promised everywhere, except in New York and Boston, where the forecasts were "fair and cool."

President To Hurl Ball

The most spectacular of all the opening day festivities will, of course, be in the nation's capital, where President and Mrs. Roosevelt will watch the contest between the washington Senators and the New York Yankees. To the president will go once more the time-honored distinction of throwing out the first ball.

Civic notables are scheduled to perform similarly in the other seven communities.

From a strictly sports standpoint, greatest interest will be focused on the openings in St. Louis and in Cleveland. In the former city, the Chicago Cubs, present National League champions, will line-up against their predecessors on the throne and perhaps most dangerous

Thousands Prepare For Trout Season Opening Wednesday

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 14.—Fishermen throughout the state unknotted snarled lines and flexed willowy rods today in a tremble of anticipation for tomorrow's opening of Pennsylvania's 1936 trout season.

Fish commission wardens at the holes most frequented in the play for the speckled beauties reported, however, that trout streams were running high with water from recent rains.

This news, according to the fish commission, assured many of the first-day Waltonites a busy session tonight:

They'll be catching worms—best lure, some say, for high water—to add to tomorrow's bait kit.

Gov. George H. Earle, an ardent fisherman, will be out at the crack of dawn with thousands of other anxious sportsmen who will desert office and and home for the outdoors.

"High and cloudy" was the description of streams reported from almost every county with fishable trout waters. But without more rain, wardens said, good catches still were to be expected.

Southeastern and northwestern county streams, the commission said, probably would be near normal levels by tomorrow if not swollen by further rainfall. All streams, the commission added, are well-stocked.

So today the 1935 total of 260,000 fishing permits was expected to be topped by at least several thousand.

Anne Caldwell Taken By Death

Winner Of Notable Heart Balm Suit In 1926 Dies During Day

EVENTFUL LIFE IS ENDED AT 37

(International News Service)

KENNETT SQUARE, Pa., April 14.—The eventful life of pretty Anne Caldwell, usherette, actress, cosmetic shop proprietress and winner of a $50,000 heart balm suit, was ended today at 37 after a two weeks' illness.

Two weeks ago when her condition became grave, Miss Caldwell was removed from her parent's Chester county home to University of Pennsylvania hospital, this city. Although they declined to reveal the specific nature of her fatal illness, doctors said it was due to an organic trouble for which she was operated on about three years ago.

In 1926, public attention was focused on her when she won a judgment of $50,000 in her breach-of-promise suit against John W. Hubbard, Pittsburgh "shovel king." She sought $500,000 damages and in

SAW MANY BATTLES DURING CIVIL WAR

HENDERSON G. SHARP

Taps were sounded at 6 a. m. today for Henderson Galley Sharp, 91-year-old resident of New Wilmington, veteran of many battles in the Civil War.

Death came at his home, 134 Waugh avenue, closing an active and honorable career and nearly a century's residence in Lawrence county. He was held in high regard always and his many friends in the New Wilmington section knew him affectionately as "Daddy Sharp".

He was born on a farm near Princeton, Lawrence county, on March 19, 1845, son of pioneer settlers, John and Jane Christy Sharp, and was one of eight boys, six of whom served their country and ideals in that bloody clash of the states. He was the last member of the family.

New Wilmington had been his home for the past 40 years. Previous to that he lived at New Bedford.

He was a member of the New Wilmington U. P. church, the Men's Bible class and the Grand Army of the Republic, Post 100.

His wife preceded him in death. Surviving are one daughter, Nellie M., at home, and four sons, J. S. R. Sharp of East Pittsburgh, R. L.

Whether they had reached Dessye or not, the third Eritrean army corps was known to be making rapid progress toward it. Dessye is the northern headquarters of the Ethiopian army.

New Brookville Murder Suspect Being Hunted

New Suspect In Slaying Of Kate Bracken Former Jefferson Co. Resident

(International News Service)

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., April 14 —Attaches of the sheriff's office today launched a search for a ninth suspect wanted for questioning in railroad tower slaying of Kate Bracken after eight other men rounded up in the hunt for the murderer were released after grilling.

Discharge was granted for lack of evidence.

The new suspect sought, described by officers, as a former Jefferson county resident who has banished from the county for beating his mother several years ago, was believed hiding near Punxsutawney, according to the Sheriff's office. When last seen, his face was scratched, according to reports.

Schools Resume Classes Today

After the Easter holiday which started last Thursday afternoon the public schools of New Castle resumed classes today. With the usual exceptions of students who were ill, the various schools reported normal conditions, according to Superintendent C. C. Green.

Principals of the schools met this morning with Dr. Green in the administration building for the usual weekly conference.

Wednesday Is Suburban Day In New Castle

One month ago Suburban Day turned out to be one of the stormiest days of the winter. Merchants were nearly blockaded in their stores and not one third the shoppers got down town to take advantage of the bargains offered.

This month's Suburban Day comes on Wednesday, April 15, which is tomorrow and a curbstone opinion of the weatherman is that the weather will be better, much better.

Suburban Day is a joint effort of 35 merchants of the city to present genuine bargains to the shoppers of the city and county and the preceding days have more than justified the advertisements of the merchants.

This month's Suburban Day will be typical as to bargains but probably larger in scope. Following the Easter season the merchants have a stock of high grade merchandise that is seasonal, that is new and that is of high quality. Stocks are marked down for the one day, Wednesday, April 15, Suburban Day, and the thrifty shopper will save money in New Castle on that day.

A list of ministers who have been serving as stated-supplies in the Presbytery was read and re-instatements for the coming year's period were made. Among those reinstated was Rev. William Lawrence, Mountville U. P. church.

The Presbytery was informed that Mahoning U. P. church members expect to make a call to a minister in the very near future but nothing official has been done as yet. This church was left without a pastor when Rev. Dean McBride resigned to go to Los Angeles.

After luncheon was served at noon by the ladies of the church, Mrs. Earl McKnight in charge, the business session re-convened this afternoon.

Ickes Denies Any Friction With Hopkins

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 14.—While congress wrangled today over the relative merits of PWA and WPA as relief measures, Secretary of the Interior Ickes denied reports of friction between himself and WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins. Ickes is PWA administrator.

A movement has been started in the house to ear-mark $700,000,000 of the proposed billion and a half relief fund for Ickes' PWA spending, but Ickes denied he was sponsoring the move or any legislation to this end. He said he had not talked with members of congress about it.

At the same time, however, Ickes gave out figures showing that PWA projects spent $741.60 per man-year, as compared to $750 on WPA projects.

Hopkins, apparently with President Roosevelt's backing, has been insisting that the whole billion and a half be devoted to WPA. The PWA sponsors insist that PWA projects are more enduring and worth while than Hopkins' multitudinous works progress undertakings.

"I wouldn't presume to advise congress," said Ickes. "I haven't anything to do with legislation. As a member of the administration, I am going to follow President Roosevelt, and I'm not going to engage in any debate over WPA."

Burns Fatal To Woman At Butler

Mrs. Hannah Bartley, 42, Dies In Hospital After Being Burned In Explosion

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., April 14.—Mrs. Hannah Bartley, 42, died in the hospital last night of burns suffered in the explosion of kerosene she used to hasten a fire to prepare the noon meal in her home six miles southeast of here.

By rolling herself in a rug, she probably saved the house from being ignited, according to the family. The clothing was burned from her body.

Her husband, James Bartley, and Jeanne, a four-year-old daughter, ran a half mile to the Logan school house and gave the alarm to the teacher, Bessie Seaman, who obtained help. Three other children survive.

Both Parties Anxious Over Day's Results

Borah-Knox Candidacies Are To Be Vitally Affected By Decisions

DEMOCRATS HOPE FOR LARGE VOTE

Bitter Contest For Gubernatorial Nominations May Split Democrats

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 14. —The politicos of both parties looked to Illinois today to furnish the first real indication of which way the preferential winds of 1936 are blowing.

Republican interest centered in the sharp primary contest between the only two formally avowed candidates for the presidential nomination, Senator Wm. E. Borah and Col. Frank Knox. For these two, the day's balloting was generally regarded as the making or breaking of their candidacies, the view prevailing that neither candidacy is robust enough to withstand defeat. Especially in view of the commanding lead already piled up by Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas.

Scan Size Of Vote

Democratic interest in the Illinois outcome was two-fold. First, the Democrats were interested in the size of the Democratic vote as compared to the Republican. About 2,500,000 voters are expected to go to the polls today. In 1932, some 3,300,000 votes were cast and Roosevelt carried the state by 450,000 over Hoover. Second, the Democrats were more than ordinarily interested in the bitter gubernatorial contest between opposing factions of Illinois Democracy. They don't especially care who wins, whether Gov. Henry Horner is renominated or Dr. Herman N. Bundesen comes out on top, but they are vitally concerned as to whether the bitterness of this party split will menace the Democratic chances next November.

Considered Testing Ground

Should the Republican vote in today's primary exceed the Democratic vote the Democrats will have something to worry about. For Illinois is considered one of the best testing grounds for the 1936 election. The Illinois vote is about equally divided between urban and rural, and to that extent affords a good cross-section. Moreover, Illinois is regarded as typical of th'

ILLINOIS VOTERS AT POLLS

Hot Primary Election Is On

Nominations For Governor And Presidential Choice Feature Election

EXPECT 2,500,000 VOTES TO BE CAST

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 14.—More than 2,500,000 men and women will mark ballots today in Illinois' most hotly contested primary election since the turn of the century.

Bitter charges and counter charges of fraud, political skull duggery, and plots to stuff and rob ballot boxes have marked the campaign.

Last night it was reported a sum approximating a million dollars will be poured into Cook county precincts by political organizations today, to employ a vast army of ward workers.

Battles Being Watched

While the state of illinois focused attention on the bitter battle between Gov. Henry Horner, cast overboard by the regular Democratic organization, and Dr. Herman Bundesen, the Kelly-Nash candidate, for the gubernatorial nomination, the eyes of the nation will watch the results of the Republican presidential preference balloting, a contest between Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, and Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher.

To be nominated in the balloting are Democratic and Republican candidates for governor and five other state offices, for United States senator, for congress, for the general assembly, for county offices and for the municipal court of Chicago.

To be elected are delegates and alternates to national conventions, state and county central committees and senatorial district committees.

know if any stranger was around we'd have been him. There ain't many on the street here during the day time and we keep our eyes peeled for fares while we're sitting here barbering."

Jaep nodded in agreement.

"We was sitting here, the three of us, just like we are now all Friday morning," he said. "And, say, we'd have spotted any stranger. We always spot them.

Spot Stranger

"Why only a few weeks ago a stranger came into this street who was acting suspiciously and we pegged him at once. He kept hanging around one building where we knew he had no business. So we call the police and a squad car comes out. The dicks question him and find out he's a private detective trailing somebody."

"Yes," put in Sirakobsky, "we've been operating out of here for years and we know everybody by sight that belongs here. Strangers always attract our attention right away because they might be a fare.

"We never seen any strangers go into 22 or any of the buildings around it Friday."

The reporter was casually putting the drivers to a test of their knowledge of the street's inhabitants during this conversation. And the cabbies proved they knew their Beekman street population by identifying everyone who appeared, either by name, profession or the building they lived in.

Their cab stand is at the corner of E. 50th street and Beekman place and commands a perfect view of the door to "22", which is 50 feet away. The stand is diagonally across the street from the house where Katharine Cornell lives.

May Be Unsolved

New York, April 14.—The "bathtub murder case"—the strangling of Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton, fiction writer and book lover—may go down in police annals as another of New York's unsolved crimes, such as the strangling of "Dot" King, Louise Lawson and Vivian Gordon.

Four days of running down vague "clues," tips, rumors and deductions by a swarm of detectives have left the authorities just about where they started. Questioning of neighbors and of residents of the apartment building in which the crime was committed brought stories of "prowlers" but failed to lead to a single logical suspect.

A young man was taken in by the police on a charge of illegal possession of a revolver. The authorities denied, however, that he had any possible connection with the Titterton case.

No arrests in the murder mystery had been made up to shortly before noon today.

NEW WILMINGTON VETERAN DIES

Sharp of Fairchance, Pa., J. Smith Sharp of Sharon and Elmer E. Sharp of New Wilmington. The last three sons mentioned are engaged in the undertaking business in their respective communities.

December 13, 1863, the 17-year-old soldier boy, Henderson Sharp, entered the Civil War in the 55th Pennsylvania regiment. His first battle was the Morgan raid, which Mr. Sharp has been quoted as saying "was lots of fun but of little account".

Teh first "big battle" in which he took part was the Battle of the Wilderness, where the 100th (Roundhead) regiment, Company F, of which Mr. Sharp was then a member, entered the thick of the fray on May 6, 1864, following 35 miles of marching. In this battle the northerners broke through the southern lines and recaptured northern prisoners.

Then followed the battles of Spottsylvania, Cold Harbor, near Richmond, where once again Mr. Sharp was right in the fight but came out unhurt, and finally, Petersburg. The Petersburg battle lasted until April 9 when General Lee surrendered to General Grant at Appomattox.

The "grand old man" of New Wilmington voted for Abraham Lincoln when he was running for his second term as president and voted in every presidential election since that time. He saw Lincoln in 1863 when the president was reviewing troops.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence on Waugh avenue Thursday at 2:30 p. m., with the pastor of the U. P. church, Rev. J. Ralph Neal, in charge. Interment will be made in Fair Oaks cemetery.

Guffey Denies Substitute Bill

Senator Confident Supreme Court Will Declare Bill Constitutional

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 14—Confident the supreme court will declare constitutional the legislation creating a little NRA for the bituminous coal industry, Senator Guffey (D) of Pennsylvania, today denied rumors he or any government department has prepared a substitute measure.

He did say if the court does invalidate the act he will draft another bill.

"It would be foolish to draw up a substitute before being able to learn why the present act is not acceptable," he said.

"Although constitutionality of the bill was attacked in both the senate and the house I think it is air tight and I don't expect to have to write another one."

Davis Not Sure

Senator Davis (D) of Pennsylvania, who voted for the Guffey act, was not so sure it will pass the court and intimated he might begin preparation of a substitute measure.

"I have done nothing about it so far" he said, "but if the court should throw out the Guffey bill I would want to have it supplanted by an act that would accomplish practically the same thing the present one does.

Capital hill has been looking to the court for a decision on the case for months, but so far no indication has been made when it will be forthcoming.

MINORITY WILL OPPOSE SURPLUS TAX PROPOSAL

Republicans Hold That Corporate Surplus Tax Plan Is Unsound

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Holding the administration's proposed corporate surplus tax unsound, Republican members of the House Ways And Means Commitee today decided to file a minority report.

While no decision has been reached on the basis of the report, it was expected to include an attack on the tax plan, an assault on "Roosevelt extravagance" and a demand for special excise taxes to half inflow of foreign farm products.

The Republican plan of action was adopted even though a bill has not been prepared to put the administration's tax program into effect.

Virtually every Republican on the Ways and Means Committee vigorously criticised the plan of basing corporation taxes on undistributed earnings while hearings were being conducted on the tax sub-committee's report.

A bill was being written by drafting experts of the house for action of the full Ways and Means Committee within the next few days.

Fight Averted On House Floor

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 14.—A fist fight between Reps. Marion Zioncheck of Washington, and Thomas Blanton of Texas, both Democrats was averted on the floor of the house today when members leaped between the irate pair.

support of her claim she recited details of her three-year relationship with Hubbard, packing the trial at Pittsburgh with sensation.

Miss Caldwell started out to be a playwright and to gain material she obtained a position as an usherette in a New York theatre. Soon she had obtained a part as a show girl in the "Follies." After winning her suit against Hubbard, she again tried to write plays and when she failed, she returned to her native Kennett Square and opened a cosmetic shop.

BOTH PARTIES ANXIOUS OVER DAY'S RESULTS

Mississippi valley states, which plays such an important part in presidential elections.

While one of them must do so, neither Col. Knox nor Senator Borah can "afford" to lose Illinois if their presidential candidacies are to have any substance at Cleveland. To date, Col. Knox has only a dozen delegates committed to him. He is running as a favorite son of Illinois, with the state organization and most of the Republican leaders of the state supporting him. If he fails today, the blow would be regarded as fatal to his candidacy. Presidential candidates who fail to win the support of their own states don't command much attention at national conventions.

Vote Not Binding

Up to now Senator Borah has about 30 delegates committed to him, 21 in Wisconsin and 8 from his own Idaho. His only other prospects are in the northwestern tier of states where he is popular. In Illinois today, his candidacy has been put up only in about half the districts, so that if he emerges with 20 or 25 delegates it will be something of a Borah victory.

The Illinois vote, incidentally, is not binding upon the delegates, so the result may be inconclusive in any event. Nevertheless, political interest in it is at high pitch solely from the preferential aspect.

Both Borah and Knox have campaigned the state, Borah for four days, Knox off and on for weeks. As long ago as the "grass roots" convention in Springfield last June, Col. Knox had his lieutenants busily at work.

Senator Borah returned to Washington this week from his Illinois campaigning frankly non-plussed as to his chances. He said there were so many political cross-currents in the state that even the Republican best minds couldn't figure out what was going to happen. But with the state organization behind Col. Knox, as well as most of the Republican leaders, the senator is prepared for the worst. For in primaries, the organization usually gets out the vote, and it is history that organizations usually win primaries.

Becker, Philadelphia, each 244½; David Burnstine, New York, 244; Louis J. Haddad, Chicago, 240½; Philip Steiner, Cincinnati, 238; and Aaron Frank Cleveland, 237½.

Fear Attack Upon Life Of Diego Martinez—Barrio, Head Of Republic

(International News Service)

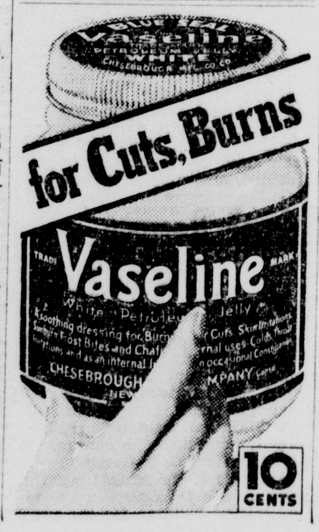

MADRID, April 14.—Fearing an attack upon the life of provisional President Diego Martinez-Barrio, infantry troops rushed into action to protect him today following explosion of a bomb which marred a public parade celebrating the fifth anniversary of the founding of the Spanish Republic.

Several were injured in a panic which followed bursting of the bomb. Several cabinet members and the president escaped unhurt as the bomb burst within a few yards of them.

The troops broke ranks and rushed to the side of the president during the melee.

The disorder was attributed to Fascists. The bomb exploded as the patriotic procession filed past a tribunal erected in the Castellana thoroughfare on which the majority of government buildings is located.

"NICKELODEON" STUNT NIGHT AT FIELD CLUB

Peanuts from the peanut-vender, popcorn in quaint and tightly drawn pokes, are mere side issues to a jolly evening of olde tyme "nickelodeon" pictures, which will feature the "Stunt Night" program to be staged at the New Castle Field club Friday night, April 17. The committee in charge has arranged the affair for both old and young, and all indications point to a large attendance.

The assemblage of members and friends who gather on this date to participate, won't regret one minute of the evening's festivities, as while many will take time out to buy good, tasty browned peanuts from the vender man as he saunters through the crowd, five reels of western pictures and two reels of comedy, like in the old silent days, will be flashed upon the screen in the spacious club room, after each paying out the nickel admission fee. In addition to this unique set-up, there will be tunes echoed from an old fashioned phonograph, the kind they used long ago, that will be a treat to this one "big happy family" gathering.

Stunt night programs at the Field club have always offered something unusual, and this event is believed to be one of the most novel arrangements ever undertaken, that promises to delight everyone.

TO INCREASE SAFETY IN THE AIR

AN ALBANY, N. Y., scientist is developing a magnetic airplane altimeter which he believes will prevent such air disasters as the one that occurred last week near Uniontown. Ralph Lucas, the inventor, explains: "A pilot flying by my instrument will know when he is nearing a mountain because the altimeter reading will drop as the level of the earth rises. Such knowledge will be of the greatest importance in " 'blind flying' and in flying in severe storms."

The new instrument discards the medium of sea level and is controlled by the earth's gravity and magnets. It is to be given thorough tests within a month. Mr. Lucas assumes a rather unusual, but neverthless highly commendable, attitude toward his invention. "I am not seeking financial returns. I am striving to reduce the danger of flying," he says.

He exhibits the spirit that has been responsible for most of the world's great inventions. The motive was something greater than the building up of a personal fortune. When we consider the comparatively few years since commercial aviation came into existence the strides that have been made toward safety in flying are encouraging.

Of course, there probably always will be a certain number of accidents. That is to be expected in connection with almost anything in which the human equation is involved. But there will be a continual development of new devices and methods which will reduce to a minimum, danger in flying.

LENIENCY TO FINLAND

The Finnish government has asked our state department to reconsider its decision in connection was a $1,500,000 claim lodged against the United States by various Finnish shipowners.

These shippers say that their vessels were unjustly detained in United States ports during the World War, causing heavy financial loss. They seek permission to sue for damages in the United States courts. A year ago the state department denied this permission. Now the case comes up again.

No one, probably, but an expert in admiralty law could say whether the claim is justified; but, off hand, it is permissible to express the hope that the state department will recommend that these Finnish claimants be given the benefit of every doubt.

For Finland is the one and only European nation which is paying its war debt to the United States. It seems that we could afford to look with sympathy upon the claims of that nation.

HUMOR AS DETERRENT

America as represented by the United States is not imminently facing a dictatorship so long as it retains its sense of humor. Dr. George E. Vincent, former president of the Rockeffer Foundation, so tells the Chicago Rotary Club. Dictatorships and basic humor do not seem to accord, somehow. Proof of this may be found in Europe, where a sense of humor does not seem to be rampant just now. Where there is repression of laughter and witticisms about political personages, loss of other liberties is on the way, says Dr. Vincent, and he very easily could be right.

War is never funny, nor does any humor inhere in its expression. But solemnity in individuals can readily become comic when given too free a rein. When a whole people begins to take itself too seriously, trouble is around the corner. Once there was a young woman by the name of Squeers, who described her mental condition as "screaming out loud all the time." Obviously a parlous state. It is a disturbing thought that such may be imminent in more than one nation in Europe at this time. Here in America there is much screaming out loud all the time, but no one seems to mind except the professional screamers, and sometimes speculation is aroused as to whether they take themselves with complete seriousness save for publicity purposes.

But one of the reasons why we may with impunity laugh at our public men when they deserve it and even jest about our own institutions is American isolation. Being ringed about by enemies is serious business, as residents of more than one European nation know. So, while being made the butt of a jest would be intolerable to any dictator, his immunity from it may in part be due to the fact he is popularly looked upon as a deliverer as well.

THE FOOD IS THE MAN

Diet plays an increasingly important part in modern medicine. The fact that many an illness may be traced to the wrong food is now generally recognizod. It is also true that no general rule can be laid down. The old proverb that one man's meat is another man's poison is thus convincingly illustrated.

A six years' study of adult diet, which has been undertaken at Cornell with the support, to the extent of $42,500, of the Rockefeller Foundation, should be productive of valuable result. The theory, based on experiments with rats, is that the diets which science has hitherto found important in the feeding of the young may be positively injurious to adults.

There is a difference between the growing and the mature organism. Nutrition must play a large part in the physiology and pathology of middle life and old age. By feeding the experimental rats with food restricted in calories life and youth were prolonged.

The conclusions drawn from these facts undoubtedly need corroboration. That is the purpose of so long a study. How properly to feed children is already pretty well known. In later life marked differences among individuals occur. Some questions remain to be answered. That of exercise is one. Does it speed or retard senile changes? What kind of exercise will in such a case best promote physical welfare without subjecting the tissues to undue strain? Is any exercise desirable save for the purpose of burning up unneeded calories? It is obvious that such questions can not be satisfactorily answered without a study of diets.

It may be doubted if hard and fast rules will apply in all conditions. Dieticians are in some danger of becoming mere faddists. Sometimes the individual knows what is best for him.

Harnessing Big Tides.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

RIVERS HAVE played an important part in the world's history and in wars. The Tigris and Euphrates, creating fertile Mesopotamia, and the ancient Nile, with its rich valley, regularly coated with Nile mud, made the first civilizations possible.

Men fought through the ages about those two rivers, and today rivers still cause war. In Europe, the Rhine border may cause a repetition of the big war. In Africa, the Blue Nile, fed by Ethiopia's Lake Tana, breeds bitter hatred between England and Italy.

DEAN EDMONSON, of the University of Michigan, considers five million young citizens "condemned to loaf, to loiter, or to roam" a great national menace.

In such a country as this, not half developed, five million young people, anxious to show what they can do, SHOULD be the greatest of all assets.

THAT SMALL BOY

SEE THAT small fellow over there?. . . .I mean that little boy crouched on the porch, driving nails —long-big nails—into a board. . . . That mere baby, only just-past-two, who is so happy there, imitating his daddy?

Yes, that's the one I mean, that little young thing who hasn't a care in the world. . . .and I call to your attention what possessions are his.

He is happy. . . .He may not know how happy he is. A child of two has no measuring rod for happiness. He cannot compare present happiness with past misery, nor check it against anticipated joy. . . .But he is happy. . . He cries a little when he falls and hurts himself, he fusses at times when he may not have what he desires, but happiness is the greater part of his existence. . . . Gladness in his smile, gaiety in his laughter, content in his eyes.

He is happy because he is loved. . . . He knows that those around him love him. They come when he calls, they do for him without complaint. . . . They carees him with their hands, their eyes, the tones of their voices, the care they give so willingly to him.

He is secure. . . .When he is hungry, food is brought to him. When he tires, he is put to bed. Every instant of his day someone is near to protect him as much as any human being can protect another.

So there is, that beloved morsel healthy, happy, and secure. . . .And I heard a woman say, "They're so sweet when they're that age. Don't you wish you could keep him that way forever?"

No, ma'am, I don't. . . .It is good for that small boy to have this happiness and protection now. In this environment he will grow tall and strong. . . But the baby must become a boy and the boy a youth and the youth a man. . . He has riches now. He must lose some of those riches, some of that happiness, that security, and then regain them for himself. . .He must lost and win, win and lose, and thus shape and re-enforce the character that is burgeoning in him now. Losing and winning, he must become the man I hope that he will be. . . .Would you have him stay what he is, when he might become so much more?

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

BEFORE THE MACHINE AGE

The proprietor of the Fox and Hounds Inn, Beauworth near Winchester, possesses one of the oldest hotels in England and a water wheel believed to be the only humanly propelled wheel of its kind in the British Isles.

The wheel is more than a century old, and has been used during all that time by different members of the Hoare family. Mr. Hoare, the proprietor, walks one hundred fifty miles a year on it, yet never moves from the same spot.

In the Twelfth Century, King Stephen stayed at the inn, and according to legend, temporarily lodged his jewels in the giant bucket three hundred feet below ground. For this ingenuity in suggesting the hiding place, the innkeeper was rewarded with one of the jewels.

Land in London comes high! A recent real estate transaction in the heart of the city has set the figure at $16,500,000 an acre. One square mile in London is valued at $750,000,000. There are places where one square inch is worth one dollar and twenty-five cents.

DEAR MISS MARKEL — Should personal cards with "Sympathy" written on them and sent to a bereaved family be acknowledged? If so, how?—B. L.

Answer: Indeed, yes, personal cards so superscribed should be acknowledged in the same manner as are letters of condolence — by written note. If you have a great number of these messages to acknowledge, you might, if you wish, send, instead, your own personal visiting card with "Thank you for your kind sympathy" written across the top.

Friends and acquaintances should call on the bereaved as soon as possible after a death. But these calls of condolence need not be returned.

Dear Miss Markel: My wife recently died, and her sister has come to live with my son and me. Should I invite my friends to meet my sister-in-law or should they voluntarily call on her?—V. S.

Answer: You should invite your friends to meet your sister-in-law. Since they do not know her, they would naturally hesitate to call upon her.

Dear Miss Markel: Should a woman, living in a hotel, precede or follow her visitors when entering the hotel elevator?—Hostess.

Answer: She should allow her guests to precede her when entering and leaving the elevator. Her men guests, of course, should not be given this precedence.

Men should always stand back and allow all nearby women (whether they know them or not) to precede them when entering or leaving an elevator.

Small Investor Has Say.
Finds Investments Few.
Another "Fool's Age?"

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

IT IS NOT the wealthy man who has real trouble finding a place to invest his money—it is the man with a small sum of money.

Here is what one such man says:

"If one has from three to twenty thousand dollars these days—and is in middle age—he is harassed with fear. He has suffered one depression. He has surmounted it. He could not surmount another.

"The man who remains jobless or is living from hand to mouth on a meager job would believe himself in paradise if he had from three to twenty thousand dollars. But once let him have such a sum, and he would begin to realize the task of protecting it against old age, or for a family.

"Banks can afford to pay very little interest. Real estate remains subject to speculation; it is difficult to judge the rise and fall of it. Besides, it will be subject to higher and higher taxes. Real property cannot escape it.

"The stock market was all right as an investment when stocks were down, but one did not have much loose money then. There, again, an expert is needed. Perhaps there are bonds that are splendid investments. But I know so little concerning bonds. Then, too, a small man does not have contacts that permit him to obtain such offerings at par, or less. He pays a premium.

"One finally risks a few hundred dollars here, a few hundred dollars there in gilt edge securities, such as government bonds.

"Now, that is a very conservative way to save, but the appreciation will not be spectacular. In fact, I've decided that appreciation never can be spectacular except through speculation—and speculation always is at somebody's expense."

* * *

ANOTHER "FOOLS' AGE"?

"My perspective has changed considerably since 1929. And I believe I am only one among millions.

"I look with horror upon the profligate years of 'prosperity'. We were living in a fools' age then.

"But today, again, I ask, 'Is this not another fools' age—this, the present?'

"See what is occurring: Millions of men are out of work, yet we have another 'prosperity' era—a 'prosperity' due probably to government spending.

"Now, mind you, I am not opposed to President Roosevelt, as so many business men are. I AM opposed to his economic policies. I am for his social policies. In fact, I do not believe he has gone far enough—and, basically, I am a conservative.

"I believe he had to prime the pump—as the saying is. And I believe if he had not primed the pump many of his critics would be bankrupt today instead of lolling in the sun at Palm Beach.

"No, I believe this is another fools' age, not because of President Roosevert—as much as I oppose his economic policies—but because of the men who fight him in their greed.

"They are injuring small legitimate business, caught in between in the struggle."

CUSTOMER GOLF

In tournament golf if a stymie be laid
The ball must be left and the shot must be played
And the rules of the Royal and Ancient obeyed.

If your rival should break off a weed at his ball,
Touch the sand with his niblick, a stroke you must call,
For tricks such as that aren't permitted at all.

Keep your eyes open wide and your mouth tightly shut;
In tournament golf make him play from a rut
And remember you musn't concede him a putt.

But in customers golf, which is frequently played
For a business man's friend who in town is delayed.
You must never insist that the rules be obeyed.

Since a very good friend of the firm he must be,
Let him kick out his ball from the root of a tree.
Just keep your mouth shut and pretend not to see.

Should he ask: "May I lift from this horrible mess?"
Though the rules may forbid it, you smile and say: "Yes."
Otherwise you may hamper an old friend's success.

Since customer's golf is a pleasant devise
For making a sale at a very good price,
There is only one rule and that's always be nice!

Today's Yesterdays—April 14, 1864—The Rudy Vallees, Bing Crosbys, et al., of their day in London were thrown into jail for crooning in public. The king had ordered mountebanks, rope-dancers and ballad-singers suppressed.

April 14, 1775—Freeing of white slaves was the objective of the first anti-slavery society in America, organized by Quakers in Philadelphia. Hundreds of English convicts had been disposed of in the colonies as bound-men.

75 Years Ago Today—The American flag was hauled down in Fort Sumter, Charleston, S. C., and Confederates celebrated their first victory.

But Fort Sumter didn't surrender. Kentucky-born, 55-year-old Maj. Robert Anderson, the commander, simply used his last shell, evacuated his 70 men, boarded the steamer Baltic and went to New York to be feted as a hero. He did not care for the hero role. He was still indignant over the failure of the War Department to heed the requests he had been making for six months for supplies and reenforcements to enable him to hold Fort Sumter. Had he received them, the War of the States might have died aborning.

April 14, 1865—John Parker, (of whom you strangely never hear,) pulled a boner and didn't watch the door leading into the box from which President Abraham Lincoln was watching "Our American Cousin" at Ford's Theater, Washington. And the order of Sergt. Dye of the Washington police, to watch the nervous, fidgetty man who was hanging around the stage door, wasn't heeded. So there was nothing to hinder John Wilkes Booth from stepping into the box and shooting the President in the back of the head.

The President died nine hours later in the very room of the house across the street in which Booth had plotted the crime!

A few days before he had told his wife that he had dreamed of a catafalque in the East Room of the White House and a voice crying, "The President has been assassinated"!

WAITIN'

Waitin' for the sunshine; waitin' for the rain.
Waitin' for the laughter to drive away the pain.
Most of what we call a life, I'm statin',
Is waitin'—jes' waitin'.

Waitin' for the rainbow to end the threat of storm.
Waitin' for the night breeze. The day was long and warm
Life, in spit of all our celebratin',
Is waitin'—jes, waitin'.

St. Mary's Party Attracts Hundreds

Cathedral Facilities Taxed To Accommodate Crowd Attending Party

Successful in every way the second annual reception and party of St. Mary's parish was held Monday night in the Cathedral. Several thousand attended and from eight-thirty until after midnight, bridge, 500, bingo and dancing occupied the hours.

The affair is held each year on Easter Monday and not only results in the raising of funds for needed activities in the parish but provides an evening of recreation after the Lenten season.

Fr. William F. Galvin was the general chairman of the party but was aided by many committee men and women who handled the details of the party. Fr. Galvin expressed his appreciation of the efforts of the committees and the co-operation of the people of the city in making the party and reception the success it was.

Maj. Gen. Hagood Still Penalized

Loses Command Of One Of Choicest Posts In United States

LOSES NEW YORK AREA APPOINTMENT

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Despite his restoration to active duty Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood today was still going to pay a penalty for his criticism of administration spending policies.

That criticism before a congressional committee, in which he described WPA funds as "stage money," has cost him command of the 2nd corps area with headquarters at Governor's Island, New York, one of the choicest posts in the army.

Normally, by precedent the second corps area command goes to the senior major general. After the retirement April 30 of Maj. Gen. Dennis E. Noland, now in command at Governor's Island, Hagood will become the senior officer except for General Douglas MacArthur, who is in the Philippines and unavailable.

Under ordinary circumstances, Hagood would get the 2nd corps area command. Instead, he goes to Chicago as commander of the 6th corps area. The New York post has been given to Maj. Gen. Frank P. McCoy, now in command of the 6th corps area.

The army high command takes the position Hagood's removal from command of the 8th corps area at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, as a result of his criticism of administration policies, disqualifies him for promotion to the New York post.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF PLANE CRASH

Cleveland Man Dies Of Injuries In Airplane Tragedy At Uniontown

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 14.—The death of C. G. Challinor, 34, of Cleveland, today left only two survivors of the ill-fated TWA Sun-Racer which crashed on the rugged mountains near here.

Challinor became the twelfth victim of the crash when he died last night after surgeons had twice amputated parts of his left leg in a desperate but futile attempt to save his life. At his bedside were his wife and two children, Rosalind, 14, and Jack, 12.

Dr. William A. McHugh, Jr., the attending physician, praised Challinor's courage in facing the pain and suffering that he underwent.

Mrs. Meyer C. Ellenstein, wife of the mayor of Newark, N. J. was still in a serious condition although slightly improved and Miss Nellie Granger the hostess and other survivor, was expected to leave the hospital in a few days.

Meanwhile, senate and commerce department investigators continued their investigation of technical phases of the disaster at Pittsburgh.

Bomb Explodes At Madrid Parade

MADRID, April 14.—A bomb exploded within a few yards of several cabinet ministers today during a parade in celebration of the anniversary of the founding of the Spanish Republic.

The bomb burst in front of a tribune erected in the Gastellana, a thoroughfare containing the majority of the government offices, as the procession walked past.

Senator Batchelor Asks Re-Election

Seeks Republicon Nomination For Second Term In State Senate

ALONZO S. BATCHELOR

State Senator Alonzo S. Batchelor of Monaca, Pa., today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for re-election to the Pennsylvania state senate in the Beaver-Lawrence district. Senator Batchelor has served one term of four years as the representative from the 27th senatorial district. In past years there has been a custom to return state senators for their second term. His announcement follows:

"It is my purpose, in this statement, to respectfully call to your attention my candidacy for the Republican nomination and reelection to the State Senate. I hope to see you before primary election day, April 28th, if I do not, it will be because it is a physical impossibility to see all the electors in the district before that date.

"I am a life long resident of Beaver County, and have been in business in Monaca and Rochester for many years. I have always been a Republican. Rural residents in both Beaver and Lawrence counties, which comprise the Senatorial district, will recall that I have been an ardent advocate of good roads since the beginning of the good roads era. My active interest in civic and business organizations and social agencies extends back over many years. In all these activities it has been my aim and purpose to assist in fostering and developing industry, employment, agriculture, good schools and social agencies throughout our district. Through my active association with the many groups engaged in these many activities, I have acquired an intimate knowledge of the needs of the district and the difficulties to be encountered in overcoming these needs.

"In my previous legislative experience I have had the wise counsel and advice of many persons, groups, and organizations throughout the district which it has been my honor to represent. This has been very helpful and very encouraging and I respectfully ask for a continuance of such aid and encouragement if reelected, because I believe that any public servant can serve well only when he fully understands the problems and desires of All the people in the district which he is elected to represent.

"It is my belief that there is a sound, just, reasonable, and honorable solution for every legislative problem. In all proposed and approved legislation, I have endeavored to do what I thought was right and fair, and was in accordance with the desires and best interests of ALL the people in our Senatorial district. I can do no more now than to publicly pledge to you a continuance of such public service, if I have the honor and priviledge to serve you again.

"We have had many difficult legislative problems in the past. We shall face many others in the future, all growing out of the world-wide economic conditions which have been especially severe in our own state. If you believe that our district, one of the most important in the state, should have an experienced representative in the State Senate, your vote and influence at the primary on April 28th will be sincerely appreciated.

DROP PAMPHLETS ON ADDIS ABABA

Twenty Two Italian Planes Circle Over Ethiopian Capital And Drop Propaganda

(International News Service)

ROME, April 14.—Widespread rebellion among Ethiopian tribesmen, military advances over the whole of the northern front, and a "bombardment" of Addis Ababa with propaganda pamphlets were reported in dispatches today.

"Twenty-two airplanes flew over Addis Ababa dropping pamphlets, but refraining from acts of war," the daily official communique said.

"In spite fo this, the panic of the population was enormous."

The communique confirmed press telegrams stating that practically every arm of the Italian northern forces was thrusting southward, with advance guards nearing Magdala and Dessye.

Il Tevere in a dispatch from Djibouti, French Somaliland, said the tribesmen have risen against Emperor Haile Selassie's attempts to replenish his depleted forces, and the imperial guard has been defeated in several revolutionary battles.

Headed by N. P. Nelson, chairman of the Visitation Committee a group of members of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion attended the meeting of Road of Remembrance Post No. 472 in Youngstown, Monday night.

Through the visits it is hoped that every post within a radius of fifty miles of New Castle will be represented at the banquet.

Cotton Growers Lose In Foreign Markets Due To A.A.A. Program

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 14.—A financial gain for cotton farmers, "which must be paid off in the future, probably with interest," and the loss of foreign markets, which can only be regained by a reduction in the American cotton price, are the most tangible results of the AAA's 3-year cotton production control program, according to a report on the Brookings institution.

Income of cotton farmers was increased by $694,000,000—$418,000,000 in benefit payments from the government, and $276,000,000 by gains from increased prices due to output restriction, the report, prepared by Henry I. Richards of the institute, stated.

"This gain," the report said, "is expected to be more than offset in the future by losses from expansion of foreign production and decreased foreign consumption of American cotton.

"The extent of the loss of foreign markets caused by AAA cotton operations cannot be accurately measured, but the program has considerably stimulated foreign production, and reduced world consumption of American cotton. As the price of American cotton was forced up, foreign mills that had been using American cotton turned more and more to foreign cotton. If this market is to be regained, prices of American cotton must fall relatively low as compared with foreign cotton."

with a country which can only suggest, "keep youth away from the labor market, in some way; make them carry out civil, education, social and religious projects." Youth does not know how. It wants to go to war.

AN AFRICAN savage who gave all his ivory tusks for a gun was found later in the bush, on his knees, praying to the gun not to shoot him. He did not know how to use it.

This country is equally ignorant about using youth and its enthusiasm. If you tell youth that it must not get started and tell men of fifty that they must retire and live on others, you will soon have a country of parasites. Who will feed them?

MR. BEAN, auctioneer, will sell the furiture that Calvin Coolidge put in the half of a house that he rented when he married.

With Mrs. Coolidge's consent, interesting souvenirs of the late President will be auctioned off, including a small wooden cradle that the former president's father made by hand. There, as a baby, little Calvin may have lain, before he had any teeth, never dreaming that he would move to the White House and choose NOT to run.

SOME GOOD Republican should pay a high price for that cradle, and take it to the convention, for luck. Then it might go to the Smithsonian Institution, to keep George Washington's false teeth company.

Mohamedans venerate a hair from the prophet's beard, and, farther East, crowds kneel at an annual procession when an elephant passes, carrying on his back a tooth of Buddha. Relics have a strange fascination for primitive minds. Some prefer an empty bird's nest to the bird itself.

ARMY ENGINEERS, calculating the cost of harnessing the high Passamaquoddy tide, say $36,000,000 will not be enough. Diesel power is suggested to hold up the power load while the tide is low.

The British encountered that problem in planning to use the high tide to the Severn. Their idea was to store up enough extra electricity during the peak flow to keep up power between times.

Long ago, one English nobleman ruined himself with efforts to pump water back up hill after using it once. That failed. China has one of the world's greatest tides, with potential power enough to supply factories unlimited. Japan may harness that some day.

Who will utilize the waterfall, far more powerful than Niagara, now going to waste in Brazil? Japan also, perhaps.

YOU ARE told that big corporations, big machinery, big production are the curse of the workingman. Back to the individual, that independent worker for freedom and prosperity, is the cry.

Silk weavers of Paterson, N. J., have a different story.

They fought the silk mills so well, through unions, that the mill owners moved away and in some cases the mills sold their looms on credit to the workers, and the latter, well pleased, started in for themselves. The former employers bought their product.

THEY ARE not so well pleased now. Soon the independent workers began cutting prices and cutting each other's throats, economically speaking. They put children and whole families to work the longest possible hours, competing with each other.

As prices dropped, their earnings dropped, and now many owners of "family loom shops" appear headed for the dole in spite of outrageously long working hours and child labor.

Our industrial system is not perfect, but worse can be imagined; there is something in being on the payroll of a concern that understands its business.

SOME ENGLISH and American authorities insist that Italian victory in Ethiopia would "imperil the white man's rule and possessions" in all Africa and other dark countries.

That seems doubtful. Surely, proving that you can win in a fight inspires respect in this fighting world.

Every white prize-fighter, probably, is convinced that Joe Louis could whip him. That does not diminish respect for Negro fighters.

THE ETHIOPIANS, having seen Mussolini's men at war, will advise other Africans: "Pick no quarrel with him." Having defeated the powerful Zulu king, England took him to London, showed him the big ships, big guns, great places.

The king returned to Africa, told his friends "England cannot be conquered," and died of a broken heart.

LLOYD GEORGE says the League of Nations adjourned at Geneva because Eden of England and Flandin of France were too close to a fight, on their own account. That sometimes occurs among peacemakers.

Lloyd George sees with horror a possible wiping out of Ethiopia by Mussolini. Why? England wiped out the Boers, a good thing in the long run for South Africa. England wiped out independence in the Zulu nation and the Zulu king, old Cetewayo, a fine old African, was worth ten of the slave-dealing, Arabic rulers of Ethiopia, as man and as warrior.

The earth is to be divided among those most nearly fit to manage it, and we may as well become reconciled to that fact. This country wiped out the Indians that owned it. Was that wrong?

Thurston Dies At Miami Beach

Famous Magician Is Dead, Result Of Pneumonia Following Hemorrhage

(International News Service)

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 14.—Howard Thurston, 66-year-old magician, who was noted throughout the world for his ability to produce living things from nowhere and then make them disappear from whence they came, was dead today.

Thursday died at his Miami Beach apartment yesterday of pneumonia following a cerebral hemorrhage.

His wife, the second Mrs. Thurston, whom he married years after he changed a box of candy into a white rabbit on a Chicago stage, and his daughter, Jane, who was the magician's chief assistant, survive.

Thurston's body will be sent to Columbus, Ohio, today for burial, his wife said. He was born in Columbus. He came to Florida early last winter to regain his health following a nervous breakdown, and attempted to return to the stage shortly before Christmas, but ill health forced him to abandon the plan.

Admits Plagiarism Of Winning Essay

(International News Service)

NEWARK, N. J., April 14—Young Lloyd Lewis, the Plattsburg, Mo., high school boy, who admitted the "essay" with which he won a $5,000 college scholarship offered by Eddie Cantor, comedian, was a plagiarism, was on his way back home today.

He boarded a TWA plane for St. Louis late last night.

To reporters, who saw him off, Lewis said he was sorry he had tried to pass off the article written by Dr. Frank Kingdon, president of the University of Newark, and appearing in last December's issue of a magazine, as an original work.

"I read the article by Dr. Kingdon and it was so good I just copied it," the 17 year old youth declared.

"I guess this means the end of my college career. I'm pretty sure I won't be able to go to college now. My folks have no money and they'll need me on the farm.

Lewis, whose father owns a 100 acre farm, came east last week with funds provided by a committee of citizens of his home town, headed by Mayor Bedford Trice, for the purpose of meeting Cantor.

He came to the airport alone last night

Vandals Wreck Old Cemetery Near Grove City

GROVE CITY, April 14.—Vandals who wrecked gravestones in the century-old Harmony Cemetery, Grove City-Harrisville road, are being sought by irate members of Harmony U. P. church, whose indignation is at fever pitch.

The cemetery, located off the main road and now isolated by removal of the church building to Harrisville, is still used as a burying ground, but is visited only on the occasion of funerals and by an occasional sight-seer, attracted by its historic interest. Such a visitor Saturday found more than 50 headstones had been up-rooted and smashed into small pieces with a heavy sledge.

Officers investigating the vandalism, are puzzled as to the motive. A few years ago a similar offense was committed in a Franklin cemetery. There, police found that all the stones molested had been set in lead, which the thieves had stolen. This is not the case in Harmony cemetery, where the stones are the old slab type.

NEW CASTLE CHAPTER OFFICERS ARE FETED

Worthy Matron Mrs. Margaret Whieldon and other new officers of New Castle Chapter 105, O. E. S., were honored Monday evening following the regular meeting in the east lodge room of the Cathedral.

Reception hours were delightfully informal and a little later, the group listened with much pleasure to a musical program arranged by Mrs. Bessie Coates Pitzer, chairman of the entertainment committee. Preceding the musical selections, Kathryn Ann Johnson gave a group of five humorous monologues which were entitled "Her Part in the Play", "Johnnie Reads the Newspaper", "Bess Does Some Telephoning", "The Crooked Mouth Family" and "Imitating Sister".

Isabel Johnson, organist at Trinity Episcopal church, played a group of two piano numbers, "Valse in C Sharp Minor" by Chopin, and "Reverie in Nocturne", Camille Decreus' composition. There were two vocal solos by Sam McCleary, accompanied by Kathryn Nessle Allen. They presented "East River" and "Duna", both popular with audiences.

In concluding the program, the guests were privileged to hear, thru the efforts of Professor J. F. Replogle, several high school musicians who were first winners in the string quartet competing last week in the annual northwestern Pennsylvania inter-scholastic music contest which was held at Greenville, Pa.

These artists, Arvo Aho, first violin; Vance Dufford, second violin; Paul Papenhausen, viola; Mary Conrad, cello, rendered two beautiful Haydn selections, "Minuet" from String Quartet in C Major, and "Adagio".

Refreshments were a still later pleasure, being served from a table attractively decorated with spring blooms. Mrs. Margaret Whieldon and Mrs. Lucy Round poured.

Forming the refreshment committee for last night's event were retiring officers, Mrs. Margaret Hammond, Mrs. Mary Buzard, Mrs. Helen Wilson, Mrs. Ida McClung, Mrs. Marie Covert and Mrs. Ruth Boyd.

Democrats Seek To Check Move For P.W.A. Funds

Byrns And Bankhead Lead Opposition To $700,000,000 P.W.A. Fund

WANT RELIEF FUNDS GIVEN TO HOPKINS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Speaker Joseph W. Byrns and Democratic Floor Leader Bankhead today moved to check the $700,000,000 PWA fund drive which threatened to upset the administration's relief program.

In the face of a campaign to obtain signatures to a petition urging President Roosevelt to take $700,000,000 of the proposed $1,500,000,000 relief from WPA Director Harry L. Hopkins and give it to Secretary of Interior-PWA Administrator Ickes, Byrns and Bankhead declared against any such earmarking.

At the same time a third potent factor in the house leadership, Chairman John J. O'Connor (D) of New York, of the rules committee, expressed approval of the fight for a public works fund.

"I am opposed to earmarking the relief funds for PWA or for other specific projects," said Speaker Byrns. "The relief situation changes from month to month and the administration is in a better position to adapt its program than congress."

Bankhead (D), Alabama, added: "Under present conditions I can see no reason for setting aside several hundred millions of the relief funds for specific projects."

Expect 300 To Sign.

Despite this opposition, Rep. Beiter (D) of New York, and others leading the "PWA bloc" predicted that 300 members will sign petitions urging that PWA be continued.

Ickes may have a chance to plead for a PWA fund before the house appropriations deficiency subcommittee. Although Beiter said that Ickes had been refused a chance to "state his side of the case," it was learned that Republican members have asked that Ickes be summoned.

"I have asked that he be called in to explain his blunders," said Rep. Taber (R) of New York.

Chairman Buchanan (D) of Texas, of the appropriations committee, promised to recall Hopkins or call any other government official "who can give us real information".

"If there is any crookedness or inefficiency in this relief situation we want to know it," said Buchanan.

He approved the WPA setup of Hopkins, saying:

"How can you have it any more decentralized? There are district and state directors pass on projects, and the federal administration here approves them. This is the same policy followed on all government appropriations for states.

A police captain says he knows of no form of torture employed in America. Brother, did you ever hear of nagging?

Candidate For National Delegate

Attorney Chas. H. Young Candidate For Delegate To Republican Convention

CHAS. H. YOUNG

Attorney Chas. H. Young announces his candidacy for Delegate to the Republican National Convention at the primary election to be held on April 28th.

Mr. Young for many years has taken an active part in the affairs of the party in Lawrence County, and has served as Secretary and Chairman of the Republican County Committee, and also as a member of the State Committee.

He was District Attorney for Lawrence County for one term, a member and President of the New Castle School Board, and for four years a member of the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania.

In the Spanish American War, Mr. Young enlisted in Company B., 16th Regiment P. V. I., and served in Porto Rico, and in the World War was in the Officers' Training Camp at Camp Zachary Taylor.

Regarding his candidacy, Mr. Young stated that in becoming a candidate for Delegate, he fully appreciated the importance of the action to be taken at the Cleveland Convention in selecting candidates and adopting a party platform.

The future welfare and prosperity of the people of United States will depend, to a very great extent, on the wisdom displayed by the party in this convention.

The party now in power, has repudiated the policies upon which it was entrusted with power, and at the instance of radical and impractical leaders, has imposed on the people of this country unsound and experimental policies, which places in jeopardy the liberties and prosperity of our people.

Four years ago the Democrat Party came into power, pledged to balance the budget, maintain a sound currency at all hazards, reduce the expense of government 25% and reduce the evils of bureauocratic government.

The result of three years in office is that the budget is more unbalanced than at any time in the history of the country during peace times, the currency has been debased, ordinary expenses of government have been increased, over 230,000 government employees have been added to the payrolls, civil service regulations have been disregarded, the alphabet has been exhausted in the creation of additional governmental bureaus, the country has been involved in the greatest debt in its history, unemployment has not been relieved and our constitutional rights and liberties have been placed in jeopardy.

If these conditions are to be corrected, it will have to be done by the Republican Party, for no confidence can be placed in the promises of the present regime.

The Republican Party at its National Convention in Cleveland will have the responsibility of selecting candidates and adopting a platform of principles, that will correct the intolerable conditions now prevailing.

It is because of my intense interest in preserving our form of government and a return to sound economic and governmental policies, that I am a candidate for Delegate to the National Convention from the 26th Congressional District.

Monsignor Curran In Critical Shape

Summon New York Specialist To Bedside Of Wilkes-Barre Pastor

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 14—Six attending physicians hovered about the stricken Monsignor J. J. Curran today, awaiting arrival of a New York specialist summoned to help save the aged priest and labor mediator from joining those dead from the Good Friday bombings.

Suffering a heart attack, ascribed to shock brought on by the bombing outrages last Friday, the white-haired pastor of St. Mary's church was described in "guarded" condition at the rectory today.

Monsignor Curran collapsed as he was preparing to attend funeral services for Machael Gallagher, 70-year old sexton of St. Mary's cemetery, who was one of two killed by the "Easter gift" bombs which critically injured three other persons.

Meanwhile, a parade of suspects passed through the office of district Attorney Leon Schwartz where their fingerprints and handwriting were recorded. Federal authorities indicated a thousand miners would be examined if necessary to trace the prints and handwriting left by the terroist bomber on three of the unexploded "death parcels."

Correct this sentence: "He makes $300 a month," said the grocer, "so I know they'll pay their grocer bill when it's due."

WAR DECLARED ON UNSAFE TIRES!

Thousands are killed or injured every year when blow-outs throw cars out of control

WHY YOU SHOULD ENLIST NOW IN THIS GREAT WAR

36,100 people were killed in traffic accidents in 1935. 895,280 were injured. Many of these tragedies occurred because motorists "took a chance" on worn or unsafe tires.

What if you had a blow-out speeding along with your family in the car? Would you be among the "lucky ones" who came out alive? Don't take that awful chance.

FREE INSPECTION

Here's what we do for your protection:

1. Inspect your tires for signs of failure.
2. Remove puncturing objects that might cause serious trouble.
3. Check air pressure of all tires including spare.
4. Check for dangerous weak spots that might mean a blow-out when you least expect it.

And if you need extra protection for carefree safety, extra blow-out driving this spring and summer, we want to show you the new Goodrich Safety Silvertown — the only tire in the world that gives you Golden Ply Blow-out Protection.

Get This Emblem TODAY!

Join this war on unsafe tires. Just drive in. We'll give you our expert FREE TIRE INSPECTION. And what's more, we will be glad to get for you the famous Silvertown Safety League emblem with the red Safety Reflector. It's absolutely free.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD CHILD ACCIDENT MESSENGER

BUTLER, Pa., April 14—Mrs. Hannah Bartley, 42, of Butler, R. D. No. 6, was burned critically yesterday, when kerosene, used to start a fire in a kitchen stove, burst into flames setting fire to her clothes and burning her over the entire body.

The accident occurred as Mrs. Bartley was preparing to cook dinner. A four-year child ran a half-mile to a school and informed a teacher there of the accident.

My New York

By James Aswell

(Copyright, 1936, by Central Press Assn.)

NEW YORK, April 14.—Small Tales: So you like the ones about girls? All right. There is Lucy May.

Her plight may sound more and more fantastic as you progress into her case, but there's more than one Lucy May in this town, let me tell you.

She has a good job and she gets paid $31, regularly every Friday. She inserts the eyes in dolls and glues on their hair. It's tiring work, in the rather badly ventilated loft building which houses the doll factory, but she doesn't mind.

She's a happy woman. Her marriage is a great success. Always a laugh, married to a man like Bill. He's as carefree as the day is long. It's pleasant, too, to be able to remark to the other girls at the doll factory, "Of course, my husband is a writer."

Lucy May came to New York from a little New England village about five years ago. The first month she had a proposal from a young fellow her own age, a traveling salesman for a hardware concern. He makes six or seven thousand dollars a year now and of course, married to him, she could take things easy. But she wouldn't trade Bill for all the luxury in the world.

In high school Lucy May thought she wanted to be a writer. Then she discovered how irritating it was to sit down hour after hour trying to think up things to put down on the paper. The work in the doll factory is easier, all in all. And being Bill's wife is next best to being a writer yourself.

He's a good fifteen years older than Lucy May, but you wouldn't guess it to hear him carry on. Always a party, always friends of Bill, artists and Bohemians, people like that, around to help have a good time. Bill wouldn't live anywhere except Greenwich Village, even though the rents are higher for the same amount of space than you'd have to pay in, say, Flatbush or the upper Bronx.

Sometimes Lucy May has to climb out of bed with stinging eyes and a splitting headache, to get to work on time, after practically no sleep at all. But she can chuckle through her weariness, working on the dolls, as she recalls the comical things Bill did and said the night before.

Once in a while, too, Bill sells a story to one of the pulp-paper magazines. He used to sell one every couple of months, but she agrees that he can't risk spoiling his chances of becoming a great writer by pounding out that sort of stuff too often. He's doing the Great American Novel now, or rather says he is. Lucy knows that he only has two pages done, but she humors him, never lets on when he speaks of "50,000 words that will make history in my desk drawer—and more added every day."

The apartment house she and Bill occupied burned down not long ago. When she groped her way out to the street through the smoke she found Bill already there, with the sailor and the Spanish tap-dancer who were living with them at the time—guests of Bill.

"I was getting worried about you.," Bill said.

Everybody laughed. Then Bill cried, "Where's Michael? Where's Michael? Has anybody seen Michael?" Michael was their cat.

Nobody had seen him, and so Bill rushed back into the burning building to reappear, a few moments later, strangling and coughing, with Michael safe in his arms. Later he wrote a story about the episode.

Sometimes it's pretty hard to stretch $31 to cover food, rent, clothes and the endless succession of table and sleeping guests Bill brings home. But life with him is a continual circus. Lucy May will tell everyone she's the most happily married woman on earth. And she means it.

For her birthday Bill pulled his choicest gag of all. He pawned his typewriter to buy her the present: a large, expensive doll!

She chuckles every time she thinks of it. Bill's a dear.

People don't hate a chronic liar Once his reputation is established, they feel indifferent because they never get fooled.

Opposition To Proposed Bill

Steel And Other Industries Fight Anti-Basing Point Bill In Congress

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, N. Y., April 14—The steel industry as well as many other important industries, has voiced strong opposition to the Wheeler anti-basing point bill because its passage in congress would result in industrial dislocation and unemployment in many sections, according to the American iron and steel institute.

Other industries opposed to the bill are cement, sugar, mining and scrap iron, it was reported, with the position voiced by the steel industries before the senate interstate commerce committee during the week of March 9, 16 and 23.

Donald Richberg, former chief counsel of the NRA and representative of the body in the steel code administration, also testified in support of the steel industry's objections.

The opposition came, the institute said, because it was believed the bill would result in:

1. Forcing industry to scrap what was believed to be a convenient method of quoting prices which has been in use for 40 years, by which any company could enter any market in the United States.
2. Denying steel plants of national markets by constricting business to restricted limits.
3. Compelling a wide sweeping shift of present locations.
4. Affecting production in such cities of Pittsburgh, Youngstown, New Castle and other centers.
5. Possibly ruin many small units removed from larger markets.
6. Depriving "buyers of steel of the advantage now enjoyed of being able to obtain supplies from any steel mill in the country at no penalty of price, and place them at the mercy of local producers."
7. Making it almost impossible for buyers and sellers to figure prices to use as a "convenient yardstick."

Advocates of the bill contended the basing point method would enable industry to earn from consumers that which would come in the form of unearned freight.

This point was met by steel executives with the argument that the proposed method does not give a profit from freight charges but that the basing point method is nothing more than a means of quoting prices, convenient to buyers and sellers. It was pointed out there was an excess of freight charges in favor of customers under the present method.

On Court House Hill

Motion for a new trial has been filed in the case of E. A. McConahy against Nicholas Frasso, in which a jury awarded the plaintiff $238 for taking care of defendant's race horse.

Roy H. Aylesworth, receiver of the Pittsburgh Company presented a petition in court asking leave to sell certain lots on Beaver avenue, Ellwood City, to J. E. McDonald. The petition was granted, subject to certain specifications in the agreement.

There were 38 instruments of all kinds entered at the register and recorder's office last week. Of this number 15 were deeds and eight mortgages.

In the estate of the late Nona C. Byers of Hickory township, Attorney Wylie McCaslin, administrator, presented a petition asking permission to sell property on the Harlansburg road, consisting of about 16 acres. Return of sale was directed to be made at the June term of court.

A pluries subpoena has been granted in the divorce case of George Waldo Stevenson against Helen Elizabeth Stevenson.

Judge James A. Chambers made an order this morning discontinuing a term of common pleas court which was scheduled to begin on April 27. The jurors summoned will be notified not to appear. The reason is that the trial list has been pretty well cleaned up, and there will not be a sufficient number of cases ready to warrant holding a session of court.

County Tresurer Joseph H. Hartland reports that during the past week eight former owners of properties that had been sold by the county came in and redeemed their properties by paying the back taxes on which the properties were sold. In sending out tax cards, Treasurer Hartland is notifying recipients of properties that have been sold for taxes, and which may be redeemed. The county has quite a number of deeds for properties that were sold several years ago, and have never been redeemed. It is the intention to sell these properties at public sale sometime soon if they are not redeemed in the meantime.

State Highway Superintendent John Shaw conferred with the county commissioners yesterday on several road propositions throughout the county. One of the roads which it has been proposed to improve is the Potter run road, leading from the New Castle-Volant road, near Volant east to the Perry highway. It is understood that releases of damages have been secured from all, except one property owner on the road. As soon as this can be secured the improvement will be made, otherwise it will be abandoned and some other road will be taken up.

There is also some discussions going on over improving the road through Volant from the eastern terminal of the present New Wilmington-Volant Pinchot road to the western terminal of the Leesburg-Volant road. The main trouble with improving the road through Volant seems to be the fact that under the state highway plans there would be a change of grade at the railroad crossing, which would do some damage to property. One of the plans discussed would be the lowering of the railroad tracks, but this would also be quite expensive. Volant residents would like to see their main street improved, as they have good roads on either side.

County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland says that he is receiving considerable county tax money by check but that some of those who send the checks forget to inclose a stamp with which to send back a receipt. The same also applies to persons who send in for fishing licenses to be sent by mail. There is no provision for stamps for the returning of receipts.

Order Payment On Checks Stopped

City police announced yesterday they had received word from the New Castle Refractories company plant at New Galilee, that their office had been burglarized Friday night and some checks made payable to employes had been stolen. Police here discovered two checks had been cashed in New Castle stores. Those checks were made payable to Arthur Duncan and John Frank.

The company announced, according to city police that, they had ordered payment stopped on the other checks, payable to employes named as follows: Earl Veon, Walter Grey, Battista Rudi, Louis Franchi, Francis Fry, Cosmo Uldordi, Sam Dicianna, Ed. Harrison, Roy Musguire and Roy Hillman.

The checks were on green paper of the First National Bank of Lawrence county, according to the police.

AROUND CITY HALL

While delving through a maze of statistics yesterday City Controller Earl Wimer stated that the city during last year expended $4,829.65 in interest on bank notes, payroll notes and purchases paid by notes. He said that the city paid $1,186.52 on bank loans, $585.42 on payroll notes and $3,057.71 interest on purchases paid also by note. He expressed the belief that this could be eliminated if and when the expenditure of the city can be held within the amount of current receipts. The city also paid for 1935, $42,243.59 interest; and state tax on bonds.

Swear at a policeman and it will cost $5. At least, this was the fine imposed by Mayor Charles E. McGrath on a young man who was reported to have sworn at Patrolman Ray Showalter. It appears a drunken man was found lying in the mud. The officers had gone to the scene in a cruiser car. A crowd gathered. The officers did not want to put the man in one of the new cars so they sent for the patrol. In the meantime a young man came along and said he tried to get the man up so he could take him home. Officers instructed the young man to leave the drunken man alone. The officers report the young man swore at them and he was arrested and fined by Mayor Charles E. McGrath.

Six permits for building operations were granted during the past few days. None of the proposed operations are of a sizable nature. They were granted for mostly remodelling jobs.

Council will pass a bill Thursday which will provide for the widening of North street between East and North Jefferson streets. The cartway will be widened 2½ feet on each side. The city will buy the materials and labor will be provided by the WPA. The cost and expense of the materials will be charged against abutting property owners. No petition was presented for the widening of North street between North Jefferson and Shenango streets. Should the city desire to widen this portion it will be necessary for the city to advertise the ordinance several weeks, according to the city clerk.

Arrangement has been made between the heads of the departments of public affairs and public safety whereby Dr. William L. Steen, health officer, will be called upon to examine all persons arrested by the police on suspicion of driving while drunk. The custom has been to call a physician. If he found the man drunk his bill for $5 was paid by the county. If the man was found not drunk the city had to pay the bill.

An honest man is one who doesn't know how to keep out of jail when he happens to break a law.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS TO YOUNG DEMOCRATS

Makes Address At Baltimore

Urges Younger Element In Party To Spread Doctrine Of "Social Pioneering"

OUTLINES IDEA OF SOLVING PROBLEMS

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 14—Leaders of the younger element in the Democratic party were on their way back home today to spread the gospel that President Roosevelt is still committed to a type of "social pioneering" that will give the government a voice in industrial working hours and wages, the problem of youth and age under present-day conditions, and a solution of the unemployment problem.

Re-emphasizing his theory of trial-and-terror, the president last night in Balitmore told an enthusiastic gathering of some 20,000 young Democrats:

"I say to you 'do something;' and when you have done that something, if it works, do it some more; and if it does not work, do something else."

Ridicules Opposition

Mr. Roosevelt ridiculed with fine innuendo the "panacea planks" offered by this opposition. He cities one "four-point" cure for all our ills" which included establishment of a definite gold-content monetary unit; restoration of convertibility of money into gold and private ownership of gold; acceptance of responsibility as "the world's greatest creditor nation' and the placing of federal finances in order.

Such a formula, the president said was that which prevailed in 1928 and 1929, adding:

"The best that the captains of the country could do for you before the depression was not good enough then and it is not good enough today."

Gives His Idea

His own idea of solving the nation's ills—the one which he unfolded last night to the leaders of the young Democratic movement in all 48 states—was four-fold and he urged younger members of his party to carry it to the nation because "flaming youth has become a flaming question." Specifically, the president promised:

1. "The government must give and will give consideration to such subjects as the length of the working week, the stability of employment on an annual basis and the payment of at least adequate minimum wages."

2. That his administration will work for a situation where boys and girls are kept in school until at least 18 years of age while those who have attained 65 shall be "retired in security"—this to afford a greater employment outlet for the bulk of the population;

3. A solution of the unemployment problem—Mr. Roosevelt said he did "not accept" the theory that a permanent army of idle could exist, "even with a completely restored prosperity," and,

4. Continued efforts to attain a greater purchasing power.

Has Important Role In Senior Play On Friday

The patrons of the senior play, "The Closed Door", will see a very good piece of acting by Frank D. Taylor, Jr., in the role of Izzy Cohen. Izzy is a young Jewish fellow, faced with many perplexing problems in his love affairs as well as in business matters. With the aid of "Miss Portia's brains and his Jewish blood" he is able to surmount them all. His shrewdness has much to do with unraveling the situation that involves the "closed door" between the two houses concerned in the plot.

Young Taylor is one of the best known of the city's young pianists. He is participating in the high school music contests, is a member of the annual staff and is active in class business. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Taylor of Neshannock Boulevard.

LONDON, April 14.—Alarmed over the Italian army's penetration to the Sudan frontier and Lake Tsana and Italy's maneuvers to fend off peace negotiations, the defense and other major cabinet ministers today studied further steps to change Mussolini's victories into defeat—measures ranging from an oil embargo to extremes of military and naval sanctions.

While the anxious ministers conferred, their feelings were publicly proclaimed in banner newspaper headlines telling of the occupation of Gallabat, straddling the Anglo-Egyptian frontier, and the shores of Lake Tsana.

Threaten Belligerent Action

Newspapers close to government sources openly threatened belligerent action against Italy, ignoring Il Duce's reiterated assurance that Britain's water rights would be respected.

"Lake Tsana is still British and will remain so," said Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express. "Although Italian soldiers sit by the side of Lake Tsana, British sailors sit by the side of the Suez Canal.

"If ever the Italian army tries to cut off our water supply from Egypt, the British navy would cut off the Italian army from Italy."

Convinced that "economic sanctions are ineffective," said the diplomatic correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, "the ministers have concluded that collective security can be workable only if the members of the League of Nations are prepared to employ military sanctions when necessary.

Must Be Put To Test

"They must now decide whether they are to put this view to the test in the present dispute."

Similarly, the Telegraph's Geneva correspondent wired: "The only sanctions which, at this stage, could put a rapid stop to the war would be naval measures."

Final decisions will be made at the regular meeting of the whole British cabinet tomorrow, before Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden hastens back to Geneva to attend the meeting of the league's committee of 13 Thursday and, possibly, the sanctions committee of 18 Friday.

Peace Planks To Be Discussed By Anti-War Group

Dr. C. B. Wingerd To Speak To County Council, Cause And Cure Of War

The Rev. Charles B. Wingerd, D.D., pastor of Central Presbyterian church, will be discussion chairman for the five discussion programs planned by the Lawrence County Council on the Cause and Cure of War, beginning next Thursday, April 16, at 8 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A.

The general topic of these meetings, "Peace Planks in Party Platforms," will be discussed not only in the local council but in similar councils throughout the country. From the findings of this councils peace planks for the Republican and Democratic platforms will be suggested to the major parties It is believed that a referendum of voters will show a majority opposed to war. Art Treasures Are Endangered

Ship Carrying Priceless Chinese Art Goes Aground Off Gibraltar

(International News Service)

GILBRALTAR, April 14—One of the greatest and most prized collection of rare art treasures ever assembled—a literally priceless group—was endangered today when the steamer Ranpura ran aground north west of the harbor here in an extremely rough sea.

The collection consists of several thousand pieces of rare and ancient Chinese art, some of them ante-dating the birth of Christ, which recently were exhibited in London. The Ranpura was taking them back to China, closely guarded by a convoy of British destroyers.

The Ranpura left London last Thursday and came here via Marseilles.

The collection has been handled throughout its trip from China and its exhibition in London with precautions seldom if ever equalled.

Pick Jurors For Trial In Florida Of Tampa Police

(International News Service)

BARTOW, Fla., April 14—With Judge Robert T. Dewell instructing the talesmen to disregard any mention of communism when coupled with the name of Norman Thomas, Socialist partty leader attorneys continued their efforts today to select a jury to try seven former members of the Tampa police force on charges growing out of the "shoemaker flogging case."

Three men had tentatively qualified for duty when court recessed for the day yesterday, and it was by no means certain that they could escape challenges from one side or the other. The prosecution indicated to reporters it would seek a jury of town and city men but the three who have tentatively qualified are from rural areas.

Judge Dewell's ruling on the use of the world communism in connection with the mention of Thomas, came late yesterday after a bitter clash between J. Rex Farrior, who heads the prosecution, and Pat Whittaker, chief of defense counsel.

Italy Confident Of Success In Ethiopia

By LINDESAY PARROTT
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1936, by International News Service)

ROME, April 14.—Rapid reconstruction of Italy's air force and large increases recently made in her submarine fleet have rendered impossible any successful attempt by British battleships to enforce cessation of hostilities in Abyssinia by menacing the line of communications to east Africa.

Armiralty authorities expressed this conviction today, declaring that Italy's campaign in Ethiopia is certain to be carried through to its triumphant conclusion regardless of what occurs in Geneva during the next few days.

Concentrations of submarines and aircraft around the Mediterranean are now sufficient to keep the huge British fleet paralyzed in its bases at Gibraltar, Malta, and Alexandria by the threat of bombing and torpedo attacks, naval officials said.

The risk of any important movement of heavily armed ships has already become "prohibitive," according to Premier Mussolini's naval advisors, and translation of the threat of naval sanctions into reality has become too hazardous to be tried.

These calculations by the admiralty are back of the recent statement before the chamber of deputies by Admiral Domenico Cavagnari, undersecretary for marine, that the Italian submarine fleet is now "capable of any task, and is being increased without pause."

Added to this was the declaration of General Giuseppe Valle, undersecretary for aviation, that Il Duce's airplanes "control every point in the Mediterranean."

Flood Control Projects Given Approval Today

Six Giant Combination Water Power And Flood Control Projects Approved

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Six giant combination water-power and flood control projects were recommended today to the senate commerce committee by army engineer from a list of 38 submitted to them two weeks ago.

The location of the projects was kept secret pending an executive session of the committee. The original list of 38, all voted by the house a year ago, would cost $130,000,000, with only partial water-power development. The original list included 7 in Pennsylvania, 2 in West Virginia, 2 in Kentucky, 11 in Arkansas, 8 in Oklahoma, 4 in Missouri and 2 in Kansas.

Action Held Up.

Action on the $308,000,000 flood relief bill was held up for this report. 8he projects, all of a flood control nature, already in the bill cover a score of eastern and midwestern states. The largest items would prevent floods in the Connecticut river valley, in the upper Susquehanna river valleys of New York and Pennsylvania and throughout the Ohio, Monongahela and Allegheny river basins, above and below Pittsburgh.

FREDDIE'S MOTHER AT LOS ANGELES

Arrives On West Coast After Supposedly Being Missing Several Days

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—Temporarily appearing after puzzling two continents as to her whereabouts, Mrs. Lillian Mae Bartholomew announced her arrival here and today ducked back into seclusion "to recoup her strength for the court battle" to regain custody of her son, Freddie Bartholomew, solemn eyed child moving picture star.

Mrs. Bartholomew announced she came here by plane from New York under an assumed name because she "didn't want to be bothered." She dropped from sight after landing in this country and announcing her intention of launching the fight to regain her son.

Meanwhile the curly haired boy who is the storm center of the approaching battle, and his "Aunt Cissie," Mrs. Myllicent Bartholomew, also were "in seclusion" here.

Freddie, attorneys have announced, has not yet been advised of the fact that his aunt and mother are about to go to court in a bitter fight over his control. The aunt has stated she will resist "by every legal means" any attempt the mother might make to take the child from her.

Through her attorney here, Leonard J. Meyberg, the mother definitely announced she will file a petition in court before April 23, deadline set by the court which gave temporary custody of Freddie to the aunt.

Big Land Owners Dominate Field

Huge Benefit Payment To Large Farm Producers Indicates Favoritism

MOST FARMERS ONLY TENANTS

Central Press
Washington Bureau
900 S street

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 14.—A report of Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace to the senate agricultural committee showing million-dollar benefit payments to big corporations under the invalidated AAA calls attention to something that is seriously the matter with American farming.

Names of the recipients, demanded in a resolution by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, do not matter so much as the fact that a mere handful of owners have a much larger proportion of the land than is desirable—from the standpoint of the overwhelming majority.

It is logical, if a few own large tracts of land, they should obtain the largest benefits for retiring land from production. It is illogical, however, that so much land should repose in such few hands.

* * *

A SIZABLE FARMER

Senator Vandenberg asks for figures only of $10,000 or more per land owner.

Now a land owner who gets as much as $10,000 for holding a smallish fraction of his land out of cultivation is a sizable farmer. In fact, he isn't a farmer. He is a landlord. It follows that the folk who do his actual farming are tenants—peasantry; some of them decidedly miserable.

Moreover, there are government payments in amounts vastly exceeding a measly $10,000 each—some more than $1,000,000, to sugar planters.

Multiply the number of such a beneficiary's uncultivated acres by the number of his cultivated acres and we have a corking large land owner. Rather than a "gentle rain of checks," the reward of this class for crop control or soil conservation is a cloudburst.

* * *

ONE GROUP

The country's hugest land owners of today are banking and insurance companies.

These concerns didn't want to go into land ownership, with a whole population of tenants to deal with. They would have preferred to collect on their mortgages—but they couldn't, under depression conditions. They foreclosed because they had to.

The south, indeed, has a tradition, as a sequel to slavery, of good-sized estates and share-croppers.

But the old-fashioned southern landlord was small fry compared with the corporations which have been gobbling the national acreage in recent years. They have been at it at a terrific rate in the post-war era. Their acquisitions have been so rapid that no one knows just how complete they have been. That is why such an investigation as Senator Vandenberg suggests would be so valuably informative.

* * *

TENANTS PREDOMINATE

Anyway, an inquiry conducted several years ago by Senator John H. Bankhead of Alabama indicated that more than one-half of America's farmers even then were tenants.

Today the proportion undoubtedly is larger.

As previously remarked the foreclosing mortagees did not like the transformation at first. They did not desert the land; they wanted the money they had over-loaned on it. But now they are becoming reconciled to their acquisitions. Landlordism is crystalizing itself.

It does not require much argument to prove that a realm of small farmers is healthier than a realm of landlordism and tenantry.

Senator Couzens Has Opposition

Former Governor Wilbur M. Brucker Will Seek Seat In U. S. Senate

(International News Service)

DETROIT, April 14.—U. S. Senator James R. Couzens (D) of Michigan, today faced opposition in the Republican primaries in September as former Governor Wilber M. Bruckner announced he would be a candidate for the G. O. P. senatorial nomination.

Bruckner attacked Couzens for voting for many phases of President Roosevelt's administration and said he would run on an "anti-Couzens and anti-Roosevelt administration platform."

His action comprised a revolt in the state party, as Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald, nominal leader of the Michigan Republican forces, had declared that the state party would support Couzens "in the interests of party harmony."

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

FINGERNAIL BITING

MANY ARE the letters I read about the child who bites his fingernails. Here is what child psychologist told me about his nail-biting boy of 12:

"I find it is hard to keep from admonishing him about the habit, yet I well know how vain, even harmful to the child it is, to talk and disapprove. I am just human, too. He really would like to overcome the habit, and occasionally has succeeded for a few months at a stretch. Usually during the summer, after he has quieted down for several weeks, his fingernails grow long again. Several of his playmates gnaw at their fingernails, too; and any one of them may lose a nail a night at the movie.

"We could cure this lad—who eventually will cure himself—by subjecting him to a rigid program of enforced rest and quiet, if we wished to pay the price of doing so. As to many other children of his age, life is tingling with alluring interests. He wears himself out with enthusiasms over his creative play. Whereas some children are under strong nervous strain because of vexations and frustrations, this lad seems to wear himself ragged over joys and successes. I guess this is all very well for his mental growth, and apparently for his present happiness, as he seems to have no dull moments while awake; yet it hardly is so good for his best emotional health. He seems to be over-stimulated."

Emotional Sedatives Needed

A great many of my readers could match the foregoing case. Our modern educational system, the whole social trend, indeed, seems to aim at stimulating youth to more mental and physical activity. It seems to me that a big problem facing us is to discover ways of affording emotional sedatives, especially for these highly excitable children—and for some of their mammas and papas.

Back to fingernails. Reward schemes sometimes work—punishment never. A visit to the manicurist may prove effective, especially for a girl. Nevertheless, nail biting is a symptom of high nervous tension. Anything which builds the child up physically, and promotes emotional poise in him, ought to reduce nail biting and other not dissimilar expressions of nervousness.

AMERICANISM: 1926—Every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost; 1936—Every man for himself and the winners take care of the losers.

WHY IS THIS WOMAN ATTRACTIVE

Secrets of Personal Magnetism Found Here and There are Available to All

What it is that distinguishes a woman here and there from her sisters, and lifts her into prominence, makes her popular with all people and gives her wonderful opportunity for usefulness? A woman to be useful in this world must be attractive—she cannot be sallow of skin, dull of eye, lethargic in mind, and at the same time wield influence over the people around her or draw to her those whom she would like to attract.

The question of attraction and influence over other people is very largely a question of good health. That radiant magnetism which draws friends and compels the adoration of loved ones is, after all, largely a matter of the correct workings of the digestive tract.

One can look in the faces of a thousand women one might meet on the street, and see the dull disappointment, and if he is a practiced reader of faces, can tell why these women are unhappy. Their bodies are not functioning normally, and their blood, instead of nourishing the skin and bringing the sparkle to the eye, is laden with the impurities of stagnation. Sometimes the stagnation manifests itself in the form of catarrhal troubles to which women are peculiarly liable. These troubles do not get well of themselves. They bring about a vicious cycle of unpleasant symptoms, because every catarrhal center infects the blood with its own poisons.

The cleansing of the blood stream cannot be done except by the proper stimulation of the great filters of the body—the liver and kidneys. When they are lazy, good health is impossible. But that is no reason to despair, and no reason why nine out of ten women who go about bearing the marks of impure blood cannot restore to themselves the brilliancy of good health and the magnetic qualities of a strong body. It is simply a matter of clearing away the wastes that defile the body, and stimulating the organs to proper activity—of dispelling the congestion or inflammation that relates to catarrh.

The experience of thousands shows that this is best done by the new prescription known as World's Tonic, which is the result of a profound study of these conditions. Treatment with this tonic brings about the proper regulation of the liver, kidneys and bowels. It helps remove the centers of congestion because it enables these great filters to clear away the blood poisons. It helps restore tone to the entire body, and it enables one to acquire the habit of good health with abundant energy and attractive appearance. You will find a treatment of World's Tonic will help you. It can be obtained at Eckerd's, Paisley's, or any other good drug store. (A-45)

Nebraskans At Polls Today In Primary Voting

Senator George Norris May Be Renominated Despite Reluctance To Run

(International News Service)

LINCOLN, Neb., April 14.—On the heels of a comparatively quiet campaign, moderate voting was expected as Nebraskans went to the polls in their biennial primary today.

Though he had not sought reelection, Senator George Norris, veteran Republican-Independent, may be the choice of both parties for renomination.

Friends seeking to "draft" the senator for another term wrote his name on both party tickets.

President Roosevelt was assured of the party's endorsement for presidential renomination, while only one name, that of Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, appeared on the Republican ticket for president.

It was expected that the state's delegates to the Republican convention would either be pledged to Borah, or would be nominally pledged to Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas. A number of the prospective delegates have indicated their preference for Landon even though he did not enter the primary.

Would Centralize Air Control Under One Big Department

Recent Commercial Air Tragedies Causes Action For Centralized Control

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 14—In the wake of recent commercial air tragedies, chairman Mead (D) of New York, of the house post office committee, today predicted the early centralization of government air control methods in a single department.

As he re-opened hearings on federal air regulation following the crash of an airliner near Uniontown, Pa., with the loss of 12 lives, Mead expressed the belief that legislation to effect this centralization would be pushed through the present session of congress.

Mead summoned Frank McManamy, and I. C. C. commissioner and Norman B. Haley, director of the ICC air mail section, to learn their views on the possibility of the ICC taking over complete control of the part the federal government plays in air regulation.

Recent air crashes have emphasized the need for reform and revision of present regulatory methods, he said.

The bureau of air commerce has been criticized in both senate and house for alleged inefficiency. Charges have been made that air beacons, vital for "blind" flying in bad weather, have not functioned properly.

Bond Jumper Is Held By Police

Edward Kern, 27, Who Jumped Bond In Pittsburgh Arrested At Johnstown

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 14—Arrested while working in Johnstown, Edward Kern, 27, who jumped bond while facing arraignment on charges of being a member of a gang alleged to have planned a bank robbery, was back in Pittsburgh police custody today.

The youth returned here last night was wanted on three counts charging him with conspiracy to rob an Evans City bank, jumping bond and violation of parole.

According to officers, Kern, while on a seven year parole from a five to 10 year robbery sentence, stole an automobile from an auto salesman at Weirton, W. Va. last September with two other northside men and they were allegedly planning to use the machine in the bank holdup when police nipped the plot.

Would Build Big Airship

Rep. O'Connell Of Rhode Island Would Have 300-Ton Airship Built

GERMAN ENGINEERS MAKE U. S. "GOAT"

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 14.—German Zeppelin engineers "chose the United States to be the goat" in the construction and subsequent destruction of the naval airships Akron and Macon to give them definite information to warrant the construction of an even larger dirigible, the new Von Hindenburg.

This opinion was voiced today by Rep. O'Connell (D) of Rhode Island, and published in today's Congressional Record.

Make U. S. "Goat"

"If the German engineers wanted definite information that would warrant them to build the Von Hindenburg, which is larger than the Akron or Macon," O'Connell said, "and to advance their empirical formulae, with construction and operations data, they would need to build larger airships or get someone else to pay for the experiment.

"My opinion is the United States was again chosen to be the goat.

"The construction and destruction of the Akron and Macon undoubtedly supplied valuable data to the German Zippelin organization for the construction of the Von Hindenburg."

Asserting "the airship is destined to become a major form of air transportation and we will realize this fact within a very short time," he pleaded for construction of more lighter-than-air craft provided such dirigibles are designed and constructed by American engineers.

He has a bill pending to authorize construction of a 300-ton airship for military service.

No Change In Condition Of Bishop McCort

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 14.—"No change."

That terse report was issued by Mercy hospital physicians today on the critical condition of Bishop John J. McCort of the Catholic diocese of Altoona who has been wavering between life and death for several days.

The spark of life in the aged prelate is very low, it was announced.

There is still some religious prejudice in America. Almost everybody has a favorite church to stay away from.

NEW CASTLE PLAYS ALL-STARS TONIGHT

Schoolboys Ready For Benefit Game

Final Game Of 1936 Season For Great New Castle High "Red Hurricanes"

Bridenbaugh Will Use Regular Starting Lineup; All-Stars In Fine Shape

New Castle High School "Red Hurricane" basketball team will ring down the curtain tonight on one of the most successful floor seasons that the local high school has ever known. The game tonight will send the Phil Bridenbaugh passers against the Lawrence County High School All-Stars at George Washington High court in a benefit game. There will be a preliminary at 7:30 o'clock.

The New Castle-All-Star game was suggested as a means of raising money for a banquet to be given the basketball players of the various county league schools. New Castle High through Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner and Coach Bridenbaugh consented to play the All-Stars of the county. The All-Stars will be coached by J. K. Fredericks of Bessemer High.

Last Game For Carik

Bridenbaugh will use the same lineup that started the Harrisburg tilt with Newport High. Carik and Mumford will be at the forwards. This will be the final game for Carik as a member of the "Red Hurricanes." He is deserving of a big hand tonight.

"Bus" Strausbaugh or Emil Grommes will be at center. Domenick "Jap" Covello and George "Pop" Adams will take care of the guard posts.

Coach J. K. Fredericks will probably start the following lineup: Flumer of Wampum and Pousney of Bessemer at the forwards, with Ostrosky of Union at center and Scala of Wampum and Macaluso of Mt. Jackson at the guards. In reserve will be another fine team composed of Kursel and Snyder at the forwards, Kendall at center and Hall and Davis at the guards. Also in reserve would be Annerella, Lysko, Tanner, and Axe.

The All-Stars wound-up rehearsal for the game last night at Washington High with a long drill.

Fredericks Confident

Coach Fredericks was apparently satisfied that the County leaguers would give the New Castle boys a tough battle.

"We might even win this game was the way Fredericks put it, after watching Flumer and Poushey drop them in with regularity and after getting a load of the defensive ability of Scala and Macaluso.

Whether or not a game of this will be played annually, depends on the way the fans receive the little offering tonight. The idea is a good one. Many fans have wondered just how far the best in the county could get with the great "Red Hurricanes" conquerors of Butler, Beaver Falls, Latrobe, Crafton, Findley, St. Marys, Rankin, Sharon and Franklin Borough. The answer will come tonight. It looks like a fine battle and one that you shouldn't miss.

Probable Lineups

Following are ticket prices for the big game, students 20 cents, general admission 35 cents and reserved seats 50 cents.

The probable lineups:

New Castle		All-Stars
Carik	F	Flumer
Mumford	F	Poushey
Strausbaugh	C	Ostrosky
Covelli	G	Scala
Adams	G	Macaluso

Lawrence County Loop Lays Down Hard Fast Rule

Six Teams In League, Hold Franchises Open Until April 22

Lawrence county baseball league managers and officials held a meeting at the Sporting Goods Store last night and laid down some hard fast rules for this year. It looks like six teams in the league with a possibility, according to James Martin, secretary of the league, that two more teams will join up before April 22.

The franchises in the league will be held open until the night of April 22, when the league schedule will be drawn up. Bessemer has just about decided to remain out of the league this year for some unknown reason. The league would like very much to have Bessemer in the fold if they can see the way.

Drastic Action

In one of the most drastic moves ever taken by the Lawrence county league, the managers voted unanimously to place a severe penalty on any team in the Lawrence county league that plays an independent team from the county during the regular season. This does not apply to any independent teams outside of Lawrence county, according to President Samuels and Secretary Martin.

This is the first time in the history of the league that action of this nature has taken place, and there has been considerable comment about it. In all fairness to the league, this ruling was made necessary by the action of some of the independent teams in the county.

Hill Promises Umpires

The Lawrence county league voted to affiliate themselves with the Lawrence County Umpire's Association again this year with Leo W. Hill as chairman of the "balls and strikes" men.

Mr. Hill has made the statement that the teams can expect competent officiating this year. Several new men, it is understood, will take up the mask and chest protector business this year.

Golf Captains Meet Wednesday

New Castle Church Golf League Captains Will Discuss Banquet

President Sam Lewis of the New Castle Church Golf League, today announced a special meeting of the various team captains for the Elliott and Waddington store at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Plans for the coming banquet will be taken up for discussion. President Lewis will appoint his various banquet committees.

The following are asked to be present: Harley Keis and Al Owens, of the First Baptists; Ernie Smith and Charles P. Walther, of the First Christians; Jack Waddington and Russ Magill, of the First Presbyterian A; George Long and Fulton Magill, of the First Presbyterian B; Johnny Hodge and Ted Hess, of the First Methodist; Jim Vogan and Chris Clark, of the Highland U. P.; Richard (Dick) Hitchcock, of the Trinity; Ike Miller, of the East Side churches; Mr. Clark of the Mahoning church; Brad McGonigle, of the St. Mary's-St. Joseph's church.

Kalajainen High In Rifle Shoot

Four New Members Aded To East New Castle Rod And Gun Club Roster

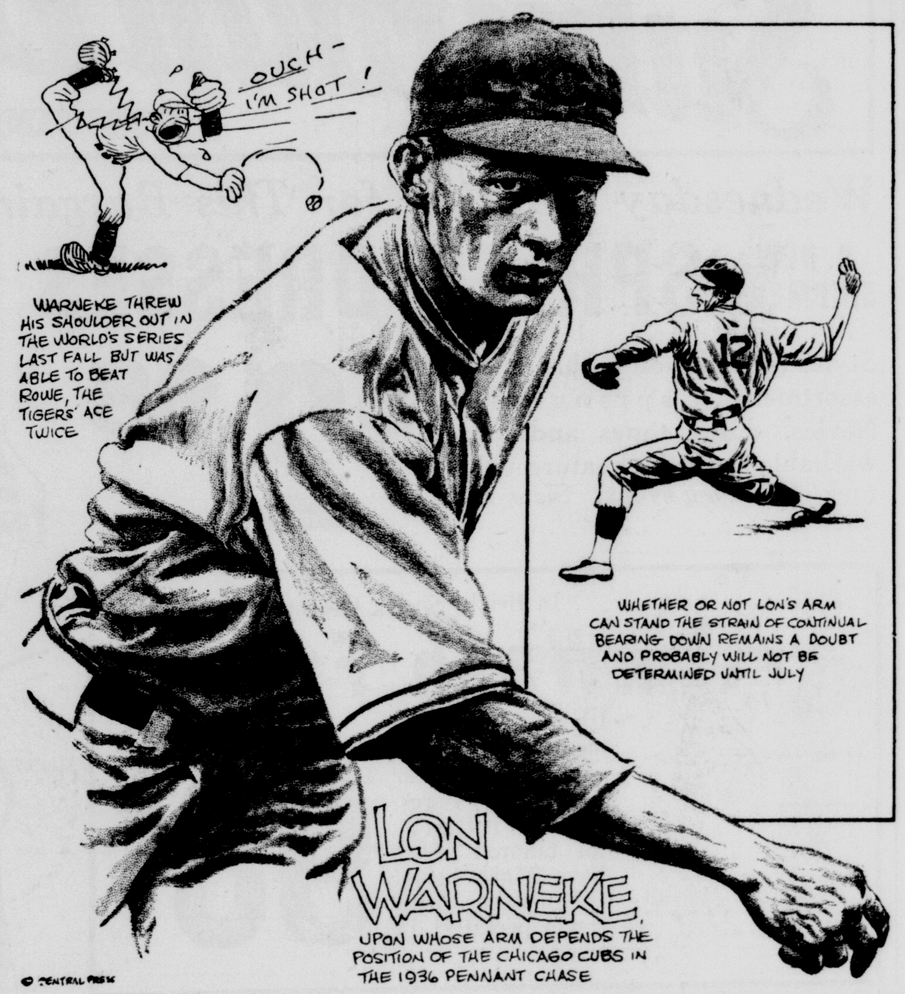

J. Kalajainen was high man with 173 in the weekly shoot of the East New Castle Rod and Gun club staged at the East New Castle range last night. Second high was held by H. Anderson with 171, and Jimmy Frisbee third with 170.

The results of the shoot: J. Kalajainen, 173; H. Anderson, 171; J. Frisbee, 170; Tom Shaffer, 167; M. Mayberry, 165; Ed Dean, 164; R. Houk, 164.

Four new members were taken into the East New Castle Rod and Gun club last night as follows: Elmer Brown, Henry Ritter, Floyd Derr and Mr. Garner. The club will stage another shoot next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock at the range. The club voted to join the Lawrence County Council.

Major Leagues Start Season, Expect Crowds

Baseball Opening Today Will Draw Many Thousands To Ball Parks

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Perhaps it has something to do with the comfortable affection one felt for the old time soubrette who changed her routine once in a generation and the painted smile for every performance. Perhaps we can go back to Omar's definition of a friend, who, said he, was somebody we knew all about and still liked.

Anyhow, with much the same glitter and gusto it has brought to the occasion down through the years, the institution of major league baseball will make its annual appeal this afternoon to a following that has yet to fail it and, according to all accounts, won't. There will be as many as 200,000 people in the various ball parks for the official opening of the 1936 season, barring bad weather, and millions more will get the eye-and-ear returns via the printed line and the radio.

President On Hand.

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt were to be among the first day witnesses, whose number might reach the quarter-million mark, depending upon the whim of the weather. Mr. Roosevelt was scheduled to officiate at the Washington opening between the Senators and New York Yankees, thus giving that occasion an air of prestige it would otherwise lack.

In baseball significance, in fact, it ranked well behind the ceremonies scheduled for St. Louis and Cleveland and perhaps even those at the Polo grounds, New York, and Fenway park, Boston. I might even include Redland field, Cincinnati, where the Reds, trying to find their way into the first division, were to meet the Pirates, who might have a fight to stay.

Watch Tigers.

However, St. Louis, bringihg the National league champions, past and present, namely the Cardinals and Cubs, and the Cleveland event, featuring the world's champion Detroit Tigers against the Indians, an admitted contender, were outstandingly conspicuous on the following schedule:

American league—Washington vs. New York (probable pitcher, Newsom and Gomez); St. Louis at Chicago (probably Andrews and Whitehead); Detroit at Cleveland (probably Rowe vs. Harder); Philadelphia at Boston (probably Dietrich vs. Ferrell).

National league—Brooklyn at New York (probably Earnshaw vs. Schumacher or Hubbell); Chicago at St. Louis (probably Warneke vs. Dizzy Dean or Parmelee); Boston at Philadelphia (probably MacFayden vs. Davis; Pittsburgh at Cincinnati (probably Blanton vs. Derringer).

Clearing skies and rising temperatures were generally forecast for the day.

Expect Sellout.

The Cincinnati opening will sell out to nearly 25,000, the prediction being based on the fact that it always has; moreover, after a week of devoted, steadfast rain, the reserved sections of the Polo grounds were sold to the last seat yesterday, proving what I've been saying all along: You can lead a fan to water, but you can't make him drown.

Business Men Golfers Will Start In May

Indications Point To Six Team League, Bankers Fail To Show Interest

The first meeting of the year for the Business Men's golf league was held last night at the "Y" with President Charles P. Walther in the chairman's chair. It looks like a six-team league this year. A tentative opening date was set at Friday night, May 15.

The following teams had representatives at the meeting: C. W. Charlebois, Independent Grocers; Harry Orr of the Penn Powers; Ralph Davis of the Bell Phones, and Mr. Walther represented The News.

It is understood that the Bankers will not enter the league this year, the 1935 champions lacking the interest. It was agreed upon by the managers present last night to operate the league with handicaps this year. The five lowest of the scores from last year will be used as a handicap and one point added.

The Universals and A. & P. Managers from last year have departed from the league and nothing has been heard from the Dentists, but it is understood that this group of young men will enter the league again. There is an opening in the league for any team that cares to join.

Rod Davis Is High In Shoot

Rod Davis was high man with 192 out of a possible 200 in the semi-weekly shoot of the Nonpariel club at the west side range. Harmer was second with 191 and Karl Rohrer was third with 188.

There will not be a shoot of the Nonpariel club tonight owing to the meeting of the Lawrence County Sportsmen, but the regular Thursday night shoot will be held, according to Karl Rohrer.

The results of the shoot show that a greater interest is being taken by the Nonpariel members than ever before, with 20 participating in the shoot last week with the following results: Rod Davis 192, Harmer 191, Rohrer 188, Barber 185, Curtiss 185, Walsh 180, Phipps 180, Shaw 179, Grodecour 177, Vogt 173, Douglas 173, Adams 172, Chambers 171, Wilson 166, Gardner 163, Davies 152, Nichols 149, Stern 143, Clark 137, Kirk 122.

Trout Season To Open Wednesday

Army Of Fishermen Prepared For Inauguration Of New Season

SOME STREAMS HAVE GOOD TROUT SUPPLY

Trout season will be ushered in Wednesday, the limit being 15 and the minimum size six inches, and as the Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association stocked many of the county streams with the legal sized fish, it is likely that there may be some nice catches.

In different parts of the city and county fishermen have been arranging their tackle for some time. Rods, reels, lines and lures have been taken from their resting places and have been conditioned and no doubt there will be hundreds of fishermen along the creeks awaiting dawn Wednesday.

In past years there have been some large trcut caught in this section and should anyone who does catch an extra sized trout and wish the catch to be recorded he can send the report to The News. State the name, address, size of the trout and name the stream from which it was taken. Reports should be recorded the day the catch is made.

In connection with the formal opening of the trout season Wednesday the members of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association will meet at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 o'clock tonight. The laws pertaining to trout will be fully explained and arrangements for stocking fish in the future will be discussed.

The surest sign on conceit is to be astonished by the discovery that others are as smart as you are.

New Castle At Midland Today, But For What?

Some Pittsburgh sport writer continues to have a brainstorm about New Castle High being in the W. P. I. A. L. baseball league and opening the season at Midland this afternoon, which is all very nice—but New Castle doesn't have any baseball team, and—well, you figure it out.

New Castle High hasn't had a varsity baseball team for many years ten or so, if you like figures, and if you read in the Pittsburgh paper tomorrow where New Castle upset Midland, it must mean New Castle, Alaska or the Fiji Islands, not New Castle, Pa.

Leo Hill Shoots 196 At Cathedral

Leo Hill, one of the best rifle shots in New Castle turned in a 196 string out of a possible 200 at the New Castle Rifle club range in the Cathedral last night, for one of the best marks of the year in New Castle rifle shooting.

Kuppenheimer "Champion" suits are aptly named — they're more than just thoroughbreds of tailoring. In fact, "Champion" suits remind us a little of what a chap once said about an Airedale dog.

"An Airedale dog", said this enthusiast, "will do anything any other dog will do — and then turn around and whip the other dog."

(We hope this gives you an idea of what we're tempted to tell you about Kuppenheimer "Champion" suits.)

Sportsmen Will Banquet April 24 At Grove City

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, April 14.—The annual banquet of the local Sportsmen's club will be held in the State Armory here, Friday evening, April 24th, it is announced by President Jay Hamilton. The date was set to coincide with a visit to the district of State Game Commission officials, here to inspect the Pymatuning Dam, after which they will attend the banquet. More than 500 guests will be present.

Details of the dinner will be outlined at the monthly meeting of the club, to be held Wednesday. At this time, the club will hear reports of the vermin control drive, that started Monday, and hear an address by Prof. A. G. Wood, of the college Biology Department.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Karl Rohrer, president of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association, in discussing the opening of the trout season Wednesday stated that members of the association this spring placed trout in Big Run and also in Taylor Run. Little Neshannock was stocked with Brown and Rainbow trout last year.

Al Quail, Pittsburgh, defeated Gene Dundee of Brooklyn, in a 10 round bout at Pittsburgh last night. Dundee gave Quaill a hard fight. Dominic Mancini of Blairsville, twice floored Mutt Swartz of Columbus and took the other half of the double 10 round windup.

Ray Mangrum of Pittsburgh completed the 36 hole qualifying round in the Wildwood Golf club's second annual open meet yesterday at Wildwood, N. J., with a total of 143, four strokes better than his nearest opponents. George Smith of Philadelphia and Clarence Hackney of Atlantic City.

Edward T. Horen, Allegheny county deputy sheriff is dead. He died from a heart attack. Funeral services will be held Thursday at Pittsburgh. Horen was the 115 pound national amateur boxing champion in 1895.

Craig Wood, Deal, N. J., professional and Reunolds Smith, Dallas amateur, chalked up a best ball of 64 to lead the field yesterday at Dallas in the first half of the Texas centennial pro-amateur 36 hole open tournament. Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., and David Holdman, Dallas amateur, trailed Wood and Smith by one stroke.

Teddy Yarosz, former middleweight champion, who lives at Monaca, plans an attempted come-back. He left Monaca yesterday for New York. He will start training under the direction of Trainer Ray Arcel. He believes his trick knee will be strong enough to carry him back to fistic heights.

Lord Derby's Guiscard, a 9 to 1 shot, won the Queen's Prize handicap at two miles, at Kempton park, England, Monday. A. F. Davis, 100 to 7 Corona was second and H. Martineau's Apple Peel, co-favorite with Guiscard in the betting, finished third.

Herewithem Moscow's Ghost, pointer, owned by R. F. Maloney of Pittsburgh, is the grand champion of the twenty first annual Detroit dog show. The Pittsburgh dog won out in the finals over an entry of 1,125 dogs. The Ghost is the son of Champion Governor Moscow, 1925 National all-breed champ, also bred by Maloney.

Billy Celebron, 143, Rockford, Ills., protege of former lightweight champion Sammy Mandell, scored a technical knockout over Cleto Locatelli, 143, of Italy, in the tenth round at New York last night and Baby Salvy Saban, 142, New York, stopped Bobby Garcia, 145, Houston, in the second round. Charley Massera fought Al Delaney, in a heavyweight bout at Washington and lost in eight rounds. Joe Knight crawled into the ring with Max Marek of Chicago and the Daytona, Fla., fighter won the 10 round decision.

Sunderland captured the English football champion at London when the northern team trounced Birmingham 7 to 2. It was Sunderland's first championship since 1913.

Brevity, Kentucky Derby favorite, turned in seven-eighths of a mile in 1:33 3-5 at Churchill Downs yesterday in his first breeze since leaving Miami. Pete Coyne, trainer, said Brevity is in shape but he wants to keep him that way.

Archibald Henderson, North Carolina U star, beat Marcel Rainville of Montreal, in the singles division of the North and South tennis tourney at Pinehurst yesterday. The scores were 4-6, 6-3, 6-2. Other matches were played true to form.

The Grand Prix, Europe's auto racing classic, was won yesterday by Rudolph Caraccuola, a German driver, who covered the 318 kilometers through city streets in three hours, according to Monte Carlo reports.

Seek To Correct Many Hazards In State Buildings

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 14.—Approval of projects to correct hazards in state institutions today rested with a coordinating group headed by Ralph M. Bashore, secretary of labor and industry.

Various departments having institutions under their jurisdiction will submit plans for possible projects and these will be studied and classified by the coordination group. The plan of procedure was adopted following a series of conferences called to expedite the elimination of fire and panic hazards in state institutions, revealed in a recent state-wide survey.

Participating with the various departments in the program, the works progress administration will take the projects under consideration.

Stock Market Is Reactionary

New York State Income Tax Need Has Some Effect On Market

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 14.—The stock market turned reactionary today after an irregular start, as selling was induced by continued uncerties abroad and the need for raising cash to meet the New York state income taxes.

Steels, rails and motors were in the van of the decline. Losses ranged to more than a point in a number of pivotal issues, as trading proceeded at a slightly accelerated pace.

Such leaders as Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Atchison and New York Central were a point or more under last night's final quotations.

A feature of the early trading was a slump of more than two points in Industrial Rayon, which reflected the announcement of a "super Rayon yarn" developed by E. I. Du Pont de Nemours, said to be one-third thinner than the finest natural silk.

Douglas Aircraft lost nearly two points at one time. United Aircraft was fractionally lower.

Liquor shares also were under pressure, Schenley selling off more than a point on the "good news" of favorable first quarter earnings, after spurting three points yesterday.

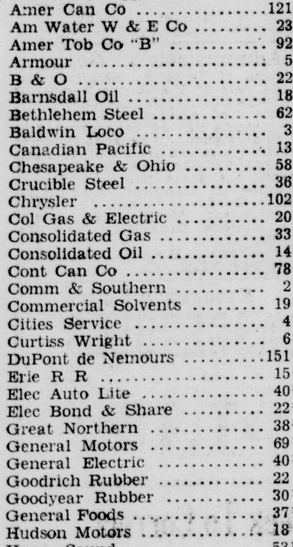

Allied Chemical worked 2½ points higher, while Air Reduction gained a point. United Fruit and R. H. Macy were fractionally improved.

Bonds were mixed, with U. S. governments irregularly higher. Grains and cotton was fractionally lower.

Bury Victim Of Tower Slaying

Funeral Ceremony For Miss Catherine Bracken Occurs At Reynoldsville

(International News Service)

BROOKVILLE, Pa., April 14—Several hundred persons, many apparently morbidly curious, today thronged the funeral services for Miss Katherine Bracken, 45, brutally slain while alone at work in a lonely signal tower of the Pittsburgh and Shawmut railroad near here.

Police, believing the slayer himself might attend the services out of egoism or some strange impulse, watched all who were present but were unable to detect any suspects.

After solemn requiem high mass at St. Mary's Catholic church, Reynoldsville, the body was laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery there.

Police in this section were checking on all suspicious transients. Miss Bracken was beaten unconscious with a heavy inkwell, assaulted and then slashed to death with a knife.

Downie Denies Beaver County Political Charges

In a statment intended to apply to Lawrence, Beaver, Butler and Mercer Counties, which counties compose district 14 of the Work' Progress Administration, Director J. Vale Downie today denied charges emanating from Beaver County concerning political activity of officials of the WPA.

"The statement made in Beaver County that officials of the Works Progress Administration are using political pressure in the matter of registration, hiring or discharging employes in the organization is utterly false" said Mr. Downie.

"I cannot guarantee that some foreman might not have used questionable measures at times," continued Mr. Downie, "but foremen are not officials. If any foreman has used politics in dealing with his men he did it entirely without the knowledge or consent of the officials of the Works Progress Administration in district 14."

"A letter is going out today to foremen of the entire district which forbids the solicitation by foremen or men of subscriptions for any magazine or periodicals and also forbids the foreman to utilize their position in an effort to get any employe to change his registration or to vote for or against any candidate.

"If any foreman or supervisor is guilty of such tactics I want to know it and they will be discharged: I realize that it is impossible to have perfect organization but so far as the officials of the Works Progress Administration are concerned we will not permit any pressure being used on employes.

"Employes were selected from lists sent us by the employment office, without regard to their political affiliation. On March 18 I sent out a news release in which I made it clear that political faith or whether or not the worker is registered at all was to have no bearing upon the reduction of personnel ordered by the state officials of the WPA.

"I resent the statements credited to Beaver County persons who have attempted to prove that the officials of the WPA are motivated by political feeling in district 14. It is not true, has not been true and will not be true."

Mrs. Muench To Resume Story

Central Figure In Baby Conspiracy Trial To Resume Testimony

(International News Service)

KAHOKA, Mo., April 14.—Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench, 44-year-old auburn-haired central figure in the baby conspiracy trial in circuit court here, resumed the witness stand today.

Mrs. Muench, her husband, Dr. Ludwig O. Muench; Mrs. Helen Berroyer, a friend of Mrs. Muench, and Attorney Wilfred Jones are on trial charged with conspiracy to transfer custody of two infants involved in the case without permission of the St. Louis juvenile court.

Denies Conspiracy

On the stand late yesterday after the state had rested, Mrs. Muench declared she had "never in my life, any place on the face of the earth", entered into a conspiracy to have a child placed in her custody. She testified that a baby was born to her last August 18, and denied intimacies with Dr. Marsh Pitzman, socially and professionally prominent St. Louis physician, who testified that she led him to believe he was the father of a child she claimed was born to her.

It was the first time Mrs. Muench had sworn under oath that she gave birth to the infant which the St. Louis court of appeals found actually to have been the child of Anna Ware, unwed Newton, Pa., domestic. Mrs. Muench and her husband, Dr. Muench, stood on their constitutional rights and refused to testify in the court of appeals hearing on the grounds that they might incriminate themselves.

Settlement Made In Damage Case

Luigi And Marie Cardullo Agree To Accept $750 From County Of Lawrence

Settlement of the case of Luigi and Marie Cardullo of Union township against the county of Lawrence, was made by the county commissioners at court this morning without a trial. Cardullo, who lives on the New Castle-New Bedford road, was asking $4000 damages from the county on account of the state highway department turning water on his farm. Settlement was made for $750.

The case was an exceptionally bad one as eight culverts had been constructed in such a way as to throw the watter in the gutter on the side of Cardullo's farm. Drains were dug from the gutter to the farm, and the water allowed to wash over it. Near one of these drains was a well, which it was claimed had been completely destroyed.

America still has advantages. The tax man can rob you, but he can't jail you for sassing him.

IF NORRIS DOES NOT RUN AGAIN

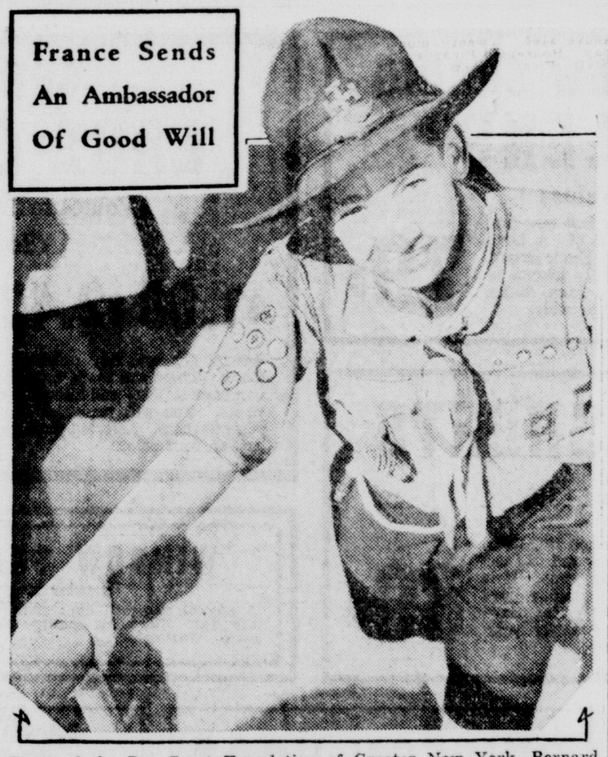

James C. Quigley — Robert G. Simmons

Among Nebraska candidates seeking nomination to the United States senate seat held by the veteran progressive, Senator George Norris, in the April 14 primary is James C. Quigley, left, a Democrat from Valentine, Neb., and present state chairman of the Democratic central committee. Quigley will be opposed by three other Democrats. Robert G. Simmons of Lincoln, right, former congressman, is believed to have the best chance for the Republican nomination. At the same time, some observers predict that Norris may spring a surprise and file again, this time running as an independent, rather than as a Republican. If so, it is conceded he would win again.
